

Apollo 8 astronaut, William Anders, prepares food in spaceship for television viewers on Christmas Day as the craft sped back to earth after orbiting moon.

Earth-bound families pray

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Sue Borman, her blonde hair holding its own against the brisk Christmas Day breeze, clasped the sound tapes of her astronaut husband's voice and smiled.

"These are my first Christmas presents," she said.

She was standing outside of St. Christopher Episcopal Church in nearby League City, the church where astronaut Frank Borman is a lay reader. The small Christmas morning congregation had just heard the tape of Borman praying from 235,000 miles away.

Then they listened to the tape recorded voices of Borman, an Air Force colonel, and his crewmates, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, reading the story of the creation from the Book of Genesis. It was a Christmas present to everyone beamed down from space.

Christmas Eve.

"It's just what this small world was waiting for," Sue Borman said, holding her white coat close over her short-sleeved powder blue dress.

She took communion at church, then went on to Mission Control to check the flight status. Later, she and her two sons, her father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Borman, of Phoenix, Ariz., planned to have Christmas dinner in Houston with friends.

A few Christmas presents were to be opened, but most of the opening will come when her husband returns, she said.

"We'll be each other's Christmas presents," she added.

Lovell's wife, Marilyn, her hair freshly coiffed, wore her Christmas present to St. John's Episcopal Church in nearby LaPorte. It was a new mink jacket.

"It came from the man on the moon, whoever that is," she smiled. "That's what it said on the package."

The youngest of her four children, two-year-old Jeffrey, wearing a tan winter coat and hat, stood at her side holding a yellow helicopter, a gift from under the Lovell tree, but broken before the service was over.

Apollo timetable

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The day after Christmas will be a relatively quiet day for the Apollo 8 crew, returning home from their orbit of the moon.

Here is the schedule for today (all times Eastern Standard):

12 Midnight: Spacecraft is more than 165,000 miles away from earth and traveling at more than 3,000 miles an hour. Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders are asleep. Air Force Col. Frank Borman is awake, monitoring systems.

5:51 a.m.: Borman eats his first meal of the day.

6:51 a.m.: Lovell and Anders awaken and eat. Anders sends biomedical data on himself to the ground.

7:51 a.m.: Lovell performs navigation exercises.

9:51 a.m.: Midcourse correction burn, if needed, is performed.

10:21 a.m.: Lovell does more navigation, checking effects of burn.

1:51 p.m.: The crew eats together.

2:51 p.m.: Borman begins a seven-hour sleep period.

2:57 p.m.: Apollo 8 passes halfway mark on earthward coast.

3:51 p.m.: Final television transmission of Apollo 8.

5:51 p.m.: Lovell performs more star navigation.

8:51 p.m.: Lovell and Anders eat third meal of day.

9:51 p.m.: Borman awakens and begins eating. Lovell and Anders begin seven-hour sleep period.

11:36 p.m.: Borman places spacecraft in a gentle roll to evenly distribute the heat beating down on it from the sun.

12 Midnight: As today ends, Borman monitors systems while his crewmates sleep. The spacecraft is about 70,000 miles from earth and traveling at more than 3,000 miles an hour.

Christmas truce in Vietnam winds up after U.S. fails to free three soldiers

SAIGON (AP) — A Christmas Day battlefield meeting between the United States and the Viet Cong failed to gain the release of three American prisoners but a U.S. staff officer said: "We feel certain there will be another meeting."

Minutes afterward, a 24-hour cease-fire proclaimed by South Vietnam and its allies ended. A three-day cease-fire period announced by the Viet Cong will run to 1 a.m. Friday but both sides already had accused each other of repeated violations of their own truce declarations.

For the first time in the war, five U.S. military officers met with five representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in a rice paddy 50 miles northwest of Saigon. They flew in by helicopter and talked for 2½ hours with the Viet Cong.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, who sat in on the top secret debriefing of the American team, relayed parts of their report to reporters at a news conference.

Asked what the tone of the battlefield meeting was, he replied: "I would say cordial would probably come closest to describing it."

The spokesman opened the briefing by reading a statement in which he said Lt. Col. John V. Gibney of Clearwater, Fla., the American team leader, repeatedly asked for a date, time and place for the return of the three prisoners.

"The team spokesman for the

other side stated the U.S. prisoners were not available for release today and that he did not have the authority to specify a place, date and time for their release," the spokesman added.

The spokesman said there was no evidence the prisoners were in the area of the meeting.

Other U.S. sources said that although no announcement was made for a further meeting, it was felt there would be one. They said the next development probably would come in another National Liberation Front broadcast.

It was in such a broadcast Dec. 19 that the Viet Cong suggested a meeting with U.S. representatives to discuss release of the prisoners.

There were indications that the NLF sought to make some propaganda out of the meeting. A U.S. spokesman said the Viet Cong had three or four photographers in the woods 20 to 30 yards away from the meeting site.

Astronauts fix Yule dinner while returning from moon

Apollo 8 nearing all goals

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A safe return of the Apollo 8 astronauts will mean that America's trail-blazing moon flight has accomplished all goals and opened the way for a lunar landing in five or six months.

When that landing can occur will be determined by the next three-man flight, Apollo 9, scheduled about Feb. 20.

That mission—an earth-orbital flight commanded by veteran astronaut Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt—will be the first manned test of the only piece of Apollo hardware not yet thoroughly checked out, the lunar module that will taxi future astronauts from an Apollo ship in lunar orbit to the moon's surface.

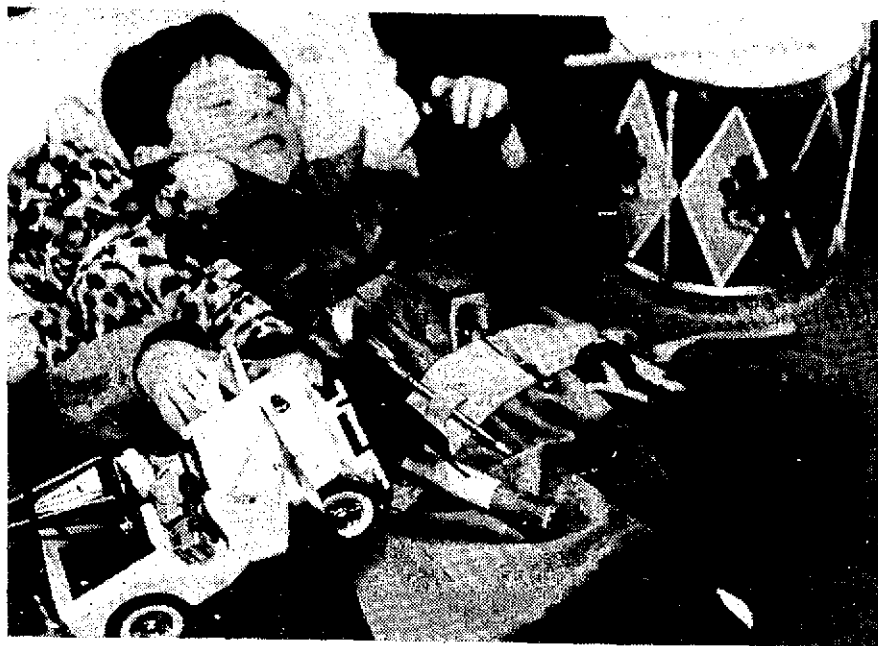

The lunar module has been bogged down in development with a variety of technical troubles in its engine and radar systems. However, Space Agency officials said Wednesday that all will be ready when Apollo 9 blasts off.

The around-the-moon flight by Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders has proven this much so far:

—The 333-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket can safely launch men to the moon. Apollo 8 was the first manned flight of a Saturn 5, with liftoff coming last Saturday at the exact launch time set six weeks earlier.

—The three-man Apollo spacecraft, extensively redesigned after three pilots died in a spacecraft fire nearly two years ago, is reliable and can safely keep astronauts alive.

—The Apollo spacecraft's guidance and navigation system can steer astronauts to lunar orbit and back to earth with near pinpoint accuracy. Calculations by navigator Lovell of Apollo 8's position and orbit were within a few tenths of a mile to positions computed on the ground. The vital engine firings to kick Apollo 8 in and out of lunar orbit required use of the spacecraft's guidance and navigation system for proper orientation.

Pueblo crew, families meet but don't talk of captivity

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy arranged a good old fashioned Christmas Day for crewmen of the USS Pueblo and their families, still filled with the joy of the crew's return from North Korean captivity.

The day included a special trip to the Post Exchange at the Naval Hospital here, which was opened for the crewmen; religious services and a Christmas meal of epic proportions.

After an afternoon and evening of reunion when the crew returned Tuesday, many families interviewed about conversations with their husbands and sons said they had avoided talking about the captivity.

"We talked about the family, maybe a little about the future," said Mrs. Travis Dodd, mother of Communications Technician 2.C. Angelo S. Strano of Hartford, Conn.

"We didn't talk at all about the past."

But Edward S. Russell of Glendale, Calif., said his son, Seaman Edward S. Russell Jr., 25, told him about a conversation with a North Korean guard.

"Do you have a car?" the guard asked.

Young Russell answered, "Yes," and the guard blurted: "You lie! President Johnson has all the cars."

"No, no, I have a car and my mother and father each have a car," Russell replied. But all the guard kept saying was: "You lie!"

Russell's fiancée, Sharon McCartney, 22, of La Canada, Calif., said they were planning to marry when Russell finishes his tour of duty—but that they decided Tuesday night to be married in the Naval hospital chapel as soon as possible, probably about two weeks.

Communications Technician 2.C. Rodney H. Duke has bruises and a black eye, said his father, Frederick Duke of Fayette, Miss. "He didn't seem to want to talk about them."

Crewmen have been told by the Navy not to go into detail about the capture or their captivity, even with their families. Some relatives were reluctant to talk to newsmen.

Peace on earth still aim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From the bleak reaches of space to the icy wastes of the South Pole, the world's Christians celebrated the birth of Jesus Christmas Day.

Only the rattle of gunfire in South Vietnam and mortar bursts from Israeli and Jordanian troops near the Dead Sea broke the Christmas calm.

With a "Merry Christmas" to the world, three American astronauts headed back toward home in Apollo 8 across the black expanse of space after 20 hours of orbiting the moon. They took time out for another space first, a Christmas dinner of turkey.

In almost as bleak surroundings, 50 men at the U.S. Navy's base at the South Pole sat down to a turkey dinner.

Far away, in the steaming heat of South Vietnam's battlefields, numerous violations of a Christmas truce left more than a score of dead.

Aside from the violations, Americans also were disappointed by the failure of negotiations by five U.S. officers to gain the release of three prisoners in a battlefield meeting with the Viet Cong north of Saigon.

Expressions of hope for peace were voiced in messages to U.S. troops in Vietnam by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in South Vietnam, and two visiting churchmen, Roman Catholic Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York and evangelist Billy Graham.

President Nguyen Van Thieu in a Christmas greeting to allied troops warned that "the road leading toward a genuine and lasting peace is still arduous."

There was more fighting in the troubled Middle East.

Only 20 miles east of where pilgrims worshiped at the shrine of Jesus in Bethlehem, Israeli and Jordanian troops exchanged mortar fire.

Television viewers invited into ship

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts had the world to Christmas dinner space-style Wednesday via television, using their fourth TV visit to "just invite you inside our home."

During the 19-minute broadcast, each of the crewmen, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, gave narration about the space cabin which has been their home since last Saturday. It took them 10 times around the moon Christmas Eve.

Anders demonstrated the preparation of food when there is no gravity, preparing a meal of cocoa, sugar cookies, orange juice, corn chowder, and chicken and gravy.

"It's generally pretty good," said Borman. "If that doesn't sound like a rousing endorsement, it isn't."

Anders showed how the food is packaged in plastic, water tight envelopes with a valve in one end. While the camera focused on him, he used the spacecraft's potable water gun to inject water into an envelope of orange juice.

He then placed the valve in his mouth and squeezed the envelope.

"That's good, but not as good as good old California orange juice," he said.

Earlier Lovell demonstrated use of the on-board exerciser, lying on his couch and pushing with his feet against elastic bands.

Borman zeroed in with the camera on the spacecraft computer and the spacecraft commander said it had done "a fantastic job for us."

Only minutes before, the crew had made their first mid-course correction on their earthward flight from the moon.

The burn, with the small thrusters of the reaction control system, gave only five feet per second change to the spacecraft's velocity. Mission officials said "one or two others" may be performed, but that the spacecraft's path home is "on target."

The fleeting Apollo 8 spacecraft passed the "equigravisphere," the point where the moon and earth gravities are equal, and flashed into the domination of the earth for the first time in almost two days.

At that point, which came at 12:39 p.m., the spacecraft was 38,894 miles from the moon and 201,857 miles from earth. Apollo 8 immediately began accelerating from their low earthward speed of about 2,800 miles an hour. They will re-enter the atmosphere of earth Friday morning traveling at more than 24,000 miles an hour.

The astronauts had blasted their spacecraft out of the moon's gravity lock with a three-minute burn of the service propulsion engine at 1:09 a.m. The rocket firing started the spacecraft speeding homeward.

Later, after resting, they received news from home of a merry Christmas.

Girl, 10, kidnaped Yule Eve

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Christmas was a day of anguish, not joy for the family of blonde, blue-eyed Pamela Powers, 10, who was abducted from the YMCA here Christmas Eve.

"There's no Christmas to have unless everyone is here," said Merlin Powers, 45, her father.

The pretty fourth grader disappeared Tuesday afternoon when she went to buy a candy bar in the lobby of the YMCA building where she and her family were watching a junior high school wrestling match.

"There's nothing I can say. No word. No nothing from anybody," Powers said Christmas Day.

Police said YMCA clerk John Knapp identified Anthony Erthell Williams in front of them from an Associated Press Wirephoto as the man who had been registered as Robert Anthony at the YMCA and who also was known as Robert Anthony Williams, Robert Gene Anthony and the Rev. Anthony by associates in Des Moines.

Job program approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department announced Wednesday approval of a 26-week program to train 100 hard-core unemployed youths in Pennsylvania as earthmoving equipment operators.

Under the program, the government will provide training and schooling funds up to $229,000 for the training at a Boy Scout Reservation at Marshalls Creek, Pa. The state will pay about $500,000 as its share.

Relatives identify 20 crash victims

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Holiday joy turned to tragedy Christmas Day for families faced with the grim task of identifying the bodies of 20 relatives killed in an airliner crash that injured 27 others.

The twin-engine Allegheny Airlines Convair 580, a propjet flying from Detroit to Washington, was making what airline spokesmen said was a routine landing approach to Bradford Regional Airport in a light snowfall Tuesday night when it slammed into a marshy area about three miles short of the runway.

Rescue teams labored through deep snow and driving squalls to reach the crumpled plane. The injured were rushed to hospitals in Bradford and Kane. At least one was in serious condition, the others fair to satisfactory.

The airline arranged a special flight from Eastern Pennsylvania and flew in relatives of many of the plane's passengers to this town near the New York border.

Grim-faced, they walked into a gayly decorated Bradford motel where the airline established

List of dead in air crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allegheny Airlines listed 20 persons Wednesday as having lost their lives in the crash of a Convair propjet at Bradford, Pa.

Hometowns of the victims were not available, the airline said.

Pope cites gap between workingmen

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, in an unprecedented papal visit to a modern factory, appealed this Christmas Day for peace between the world of the workingman and the Roman Catholic Church. Then, in his annual Christmas blessing, he voiced hopes for all the world.

His plea for an end to centuries-old conflicts between religion and labor was uttered against the dramatic background of sights and sounds of the colossal steel center at Taranto, 300 miles south of Vatican City.

At Taranto, he celebrated Christmas midnight Mass surrounded by 15,000 laborers in the heart of a steel plant. Eight hours later, having flown back to Rome in a chartered jet, he appeared on the loggia of St. Peter's Basilica and gave his Christmas noonday "urbis et orbis" blessing to the city of Rome and the world.

Pope Paul said midnight Mass in flood-ravaged Florence two years ago. But never had he—or any other Pope—traveled as far on a Christmas as on this one. Never before had a Pope celebrated Mass in a factory and never in his 5½-year pontificate had Paul spoken as bluntly about the rejection of formal religion by disillusioned members of the working classes.

And in an admission almost startling for the spiritual ruler of Roman Catholicism, he said to people who represent a large part of his Church: "It is hard for us to address you. We feel the difficulty of making ourselves understood by you. . . . It almost seems there is no common language between you and us. You are immersed in a world completely extraneous to the world in which we men of the Church live. You think and you work in a way completely different from that of the thought and work of the Church."

South Korea infiltrated by commandos

SEOUL (AP) — North Korean infiltrators in fast boats which look like the thousands of fishing boats off the Korean coast are putting South Korean defenses to a severe test a Western military expert says.

The expert—who can not be identified—said the boats bring tough, well-trained North Korean commandos South for what U.S. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel calls the "porous war," an effort by the North to plant a revolution in the South so that Pyongyang can rush to the aid of the "rebels."

A force of commandos landed in early November on South Korea's east coast near Ulsin. South Korean forces have reported killing 106 and capturing seven and believe the landing force has been pretty well mopped up.

Bonesteel says the situation is not comparable to Vietnam because there are "no neutral or supporting peasants to be the water in which the guerrillas swim." But the high-ranking Western military expert said North Korea has developed a rather formidable capability at unconventional warfare.

The infiltration boats are about 80 feet long, he said, with the superstructures of fishing boats but with high-speed hulls and three diesel engines that can make 35 knots in rough water.

U.S. analysts believed North Korea had about 30 such boats last year. Indications are it has about twice as many now and is building more.

In the last few months, the expert continued, North Korea apparently has doubled the number of its suicide commandos, and the number of hardened commandos along the demilitarized zone has about tripled.

Because of this recent energetic expansion, the expert believes North Korea will continue to emphasize "porous war."

"Trying to assess their intentions can be dangerous," he said. He described North Korea as a "tremendously strong, organized, trigger-happy nation" that is ready to fight.

The commando attempt to assassinate South Korean President Chung Hee Park last January and the capture of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo showed its "perfect readiness to take a very high risk of war. They must have evaluated that the free world didn't want war."

Envoy moves up

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Misa Pavicevic, deputy foreign minister, was named by Parliament Wednesday to be acting foreign minister. Marko Nikezic, who had held the post, became president of the Serbian Communist party in November.

a crash headquarters.

The bodies of the dead, meantime, were being held at a makeshift morgue in a fire hall at the little town of Cyclone near the airport.

The plane, Allegheny flight 736, had left Detroit and landed at Erie, Pa., before heading for Bradford. It had been scheduled to go on to Harrisburg, Pa., before flying on to the nation's capital.

When it crashed, the plane was carrying a crew of three and 44 passengers, three of whom were Allegheny employees.

The pilot, Capt. Gary L. Mull of Fairfax, Va., and First Officer Richard B. Gardner of Springfield, Va., were killed. Hostess Rita Boylen, 23, of Alexandria, Va., survived.

An airline spokesman said the crew contacted Bradford Airport by radio shortly before the crash and gave no sign of trouble.

The plane clipped off the tops of some small trees on the edge of a frozen marsh, skidded along the ground for about a quarter mile, then spun around and flipped over on its back.

The impact sheared off the wings, leaving only stubs and cracked open the fuselage in the wing area.

A survivor, Gregory Toin, 42, of Pottsville, Pa., said the passengers had no warning.

"We were instructed to fasten our seat belts in preparation for a landing at Bradford," he said, "and it seemed as if we were headed for the runway in a normal fashion."

"Then we crashed into what seemed to be a gully near a dirt road. I was knocked out for a time, and when I regained consciousness I started to kick out a window and couldn't. Then I saw there was a large split in the fuselage above me, so I crawled out of it."

Ron Van Pelt, 26, of Plymouth, Mich., built a bonfire out of debris to keep himself and the other survivors warm. The flames were seen from the air by the crew of another Allegheny Airlines plane who radioed the location to the airport tower.

Firemen and other volunteers jumped into ambulances, trucks, jeeps and snowmobiles and rode through heavy snow and 10-degree temperatures to the crash site.

A 10-man team from the National Transportation Safety Board arrived at the crash site early Christmas Day and said they found the plane's cockpit voice recorder and a flight recorder in good condition.

The devices record all conversation between pilot and co-pilot and other information, such as speed and altitude, that are vital to investigators trying to find out what caused the crash.

PRICES IN THIS AD EFFECTIVE THROUGH SATURDAY, DECEMBER 28, IN ALL A&P SUPER MARKETS IN STROUDSBURG AND VICINITY.

Six types of recreation will be permitted in the new state park surrounding the Beltzville Dam and Reservoir. The recreation classifications shown on the map under each area, such as Trinity Gorge, are: B, boating; H, hiking; S, swimming; F, fishing; P, picnicking and C, camping. Other letters such as D and N are for day use and overnight use.

Beltzville State Park

State names new park in Pocono region

STROUDSBURG — Recreational facilities around the 3,600-acre Beltzville Dam and Reservoir has been officially formed into a new State Park which will be operated by the Department of Forests and Waters.

The State Geographic Board, meeting in Harrisburg recently, officially named the Beltzville State Park on the Pohopoco Creek.

The $18.8 million project, for which construction began last year, is expected to be complete in 1970.

The park and dam is located four miles east of Lehighgton and about 20 miles west of Stroudsburg.

The Geographic Board, which is composed of the Department of Highways, Forests and Waters, Internal Affairs and the Historic and Museum Commission, named 15 other state parks, a hiking trail and lake throughout the Commonwealth.

The Beltzville Dam, a U.S. Corps of Engineers flood control project, will impound 947 acres of water which will form a five-mile lake.

The recreational facilities which will be provided in the new state park, will be along the lake's shoreline.

The new state park will provide facilities for boating, hiking, swimming, picnicking, fishing, overnight campsites and hunting.

Recreation areas

While there is public ownership of the shore line, there are three major recreational centers along the lake. They are:

Pine Run Cove — This area will provide day use recreation including picnic areas, swimming and boating. A wildlife habitat is also adjacent to this area.

Trinity Gorge — This area will provide for swimming, picnicking and hiking.

Twinflower — This will provide overnight use with campsites and boat launching facilities. A wildlife habitat is also adjacent to this area.

Fishing will be permitted at all three areas, but hunting is permitted only at Trinity Gorge.

635,000 visitors

The State Park will provide a recreation capacity of 635,000

Martians kidnap Santa Claus

NEWFOUNDLAND — It was touch and go for awhile there, whether or not Santa Claus would ever make it back to earth in time for Christmas, since he was kidnapped by a Martian in green earmuffs who believed that the spirit of Christmas should be shared equally by all of the planets, and not kept merely for the children of earth.

It seems Santa was snatched right off the stage of the Newfoundland Elementary Center by a Martian named Kob, right before the very eyes of some children with whom he had been discussing Christmas holiday plans. He was forced to visit every planet, but fortunately returned to earth in time for the festivities on Christmas Eve.

It was part of the fun at the school when the children from kindergarten through the sixth grade, under the direction of Miss Helen Sebastianelli, presented "Santa and the Space Man."

Santa was played by Charles Tolle, and his Santanapper was played by Neil Lee. The children were played by Kim Manhart, Robert Bastian, Michele Colan, Cheryl Dunning, Mike Kurtz, Denise Eggert, Michael Marcks, Padraic McHale, Carla Smith, Cindy Evans, Patricia Muller, Timothy Farnelli and Paul Newcomer.

The play was preceded by instrumental numbers by Cheryl Dunning, Michele Colan, Timothy Farnelli and Susan Johnson, with Michael Kurtz as soloist.

Sons holiday gift is coming home

NEWFOUNDLAND — Two Newfoundland families were given an added Christmas blessing Wednesday.

Their sons, both of whom had been in the Armed Services returned home for the holiday season — to stay. Both have completed their duty tour and were honorably discharged.

They are: Maj. Robert Alan, M.D., and son of Dr. and Mrs. A. V. Lupcho and Sgt. Robert Madsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Madsen Sr.

Dr. Alan returned home from a three year tour of duty in Germany and will remain in Newfoundland with his parents until July 1 when he begins his residency in Ophthalmology at Wills Eye Hospital, Philadelphia.

Dr. Alan attended Wyoming Seminary and Colgate University and was a 1964 graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. He served his internship at Madigan Hospital, Tacoma, Wash. He was trained as a flight surgeon in Texas and Alabama.

Dr. Alan's wife, the former Patricia Puchalla, and their children, Robert Scott and Kimberly Jean, are with him in Newfoundland.

Sgt. Madsen is home to stay also — and bedded down right now with influenza.

He was discharged at McGuire Air Force Base last week after completing a four-year enlistment in the Air Force. He was trained in Mississippi and Texas before leaving for Germany in 1965, where he was stationed at Wasserkuppe, near Fulda. He was married to a German girl while in that country, and the ceremony was repeated in Denmark when the couple and Madsen's parents and sister were able to be present. The senior Madsen is a native of Denmark.

Sgt. Madsen's wife, Elvira, and their children, Beatrix and Angela, preceded him to Newfoundland, and were waiting for his arrival this week. The local serviceman, a graduate of Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint High School, Newfoundland, attended Penn State before enlisting in the service. He will assist his parents in the operation of their poultry farm in Newfoundland.

John Bornholdt Jr.

Ex-reporter given Depot command

NEWFOUNDLAND — Captain John Bornholdt Jr., 26, this week was named commanding officer of the U.S. Army Materiel Command Mobile Television Detachment based at Tobyhanna Army Depot.

The new CO entered the Army in June 1968, at Fort Gordon, Ga.

He recently returned from Vietnam, where he served as information officer of the 101st Airborne Division. While serving in Vietnam, he was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service.

In his new assignment, Capt. Bornholdt will direct an activity which provides television capability for the Army.

He has extensive experience in the news media, having been a reporter with the Chicago Tribune prior to entering the Army.

He is a graduate of the University of Iowa, where he obtained a bachelor's degree in journalism and a master's degree in radio and television.

A native of Davenport, Iowa, Capt. Bornholdt will live in Mt. Bethel with his wife and infant daughter.

Three couples plan wedding

STROUDSBURG — Bernard N. Counterman, 41, Stroudsburg R. D. 3, and Marie-Antoinette Counterman, 35, 1836 John St., East Stroudsburg, were one of three couples to apply for a marriage license Saturday in the Monroe County Courthouse.

The other two couples were Paul W. Stoudt, 17, Stroudsburg R. D. 5, and Shirley E. Groner, 16, Bangor, and Robert W. Margosiak, 26, Garfield, N. J., and Linette Budine, 17, Lodi, N. J.

Wonders of Christmas

Wonders of Christmas never cease — and they probably never will, even in this troubled world as we know it today.

Christmas this year had a tremendous international flavor, in which definite signs of peace streaked across the horizon. There was a genuine feeling of good will among men.

The crew of the Pueblo was released and returned to the United States. Uncle Sam's three passenger Apollo Eight orbited the moon and opened an entirely new world and the kidnapper who terrorized Florida and Georgia was captured.

There was a lull in the Vietnam fighting and the daughter of President-elect Richard M. Nixon was married to the grandson of former president Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Saber rattling was at a minimum and the quiet and comfortable feeling of peace was evident in all sections of the globe.

Christmas continues to reign as that special day on which miracles are accomplished.

The birth of Christ seems to have been only yesterday, rather than in the pages of history. The Star of Bethlehem no longer glows over the world, but its reflection governs the behavior of man on this day of days.

Christmas is the one day in a year when man is man, rather than an enemy of man. Disputes may not be settled, but they at least enjoy a lull out of respect to the birth of Jesus Christ.

This is the day on which family life abounds and where closeness of family and friend alike are an institution, rather than an occurrence.

There were no exceptions this year. The spirit of Christmas was keenly felt in our community, as is the case annually. But, it was even more evident on an international scope.

There was a genuine feeling of "peace on earth and good will toward man."

Cooperation next step

Douglas Williams became the official planning administrator for Monroe County by virtue of action taken by the Planning Commission on Saturday and the Monroe County Salary Board on Monday.

A decision to accept Williams was by a 7-1 vote on the part of the planners and the salary was set at $10,000 for six months and $11,500 thereafter by a 3-1 vote on the part of the salary board membership.

The Pocono Record has argued editorially against the appointment of Williams to the planning post for months. We lost and now must accept defeat gracefully.

We still believe the appointment to be wrong, but it has been made. We don't feel that Williams' appointment can cure all the ills from which the planning commission is suffering.

It is also our opinion that the planning commission will be unable to operate without federal and state funds, a feat that may have to be done in the future because Williams doesn't meet state or federal planning standards.

However, we fought and lost. Now we are obligated to do all in our power to assist the new planning administrator and the planning commission in general. We hope that all others who opposed the selection will forget the past and look toward the future.

It will take cooperation on the part of everyone to make planning successful in Monroe County. Cooperation is necessary because we have a lot of time to make up as far as planning and zoning are concerned in this area.

We may oppose the planning commission again, but we pledge our support on planning in general and to the new planning administrator, as long as the rules outlined by the planning commission are fulfilled and stipulations met.

Although we aren't in agreement, we must cast aside personal opinion and work for the general well being of Monroe County.

Prediction comes true

WASHINGTON — There is nothing new about man's desire to go to the moon. It has long been with us and 100 years ago Jules Verne predicted it right down to the detail that three Americans would take off from Florida in a capsule shot from a massive cannon.

And now the three American astronauts are on their six-day voyage deeper into outer space than man has ever gone, enroute 240,000 miles to orbit the moon 10 times at a mere 70 miles from the surface before returning.

What is new about man's flight around the moon — man will be landing there soon — is not the concept but the fact that man now has the capability, the complex costly mechanisms, the technology and the resources to do it.

So we're doing it. It was never in doubt. The only question was when. What it will mean can only be dimly foreseen, but the potential is so great that it justifies the cost, the risks, the uncertainties. The potential is metaphysical as well as material.

For the first time man is flying beyond the orbit of his planet. For the first time he is releasing himself from the physical bonds which have tied him to earth, and now the vast, unexplored territories of the universe itself are coming more within reach.

No wonder the late Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, the first deputy administrator of NASA—thinker and doer—put the first value of the manned moon flight in metaphysical terms.

"None of us knows," he once remarked, "what the final destiny of man may be—or if there is any end to his capacity for growth and adaptation. Wherever this venture leads us, we in the United States are convinced that the power to leave the earth—to travel where we will in space and to return at will—marks the opening of a brilliant new stage in man's evolution."

Astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders are taking man nearer to learning the origin of the universe. That's quite a little.

But it isn't all. There are rich dividends from space exploration—and more to come.

A valuable satellite communications network is in being.

Storm warnings

A wheather satellite system is providing storm warnings to save lives and property.

New vistas of practical knowledge are opening up for engineers, medical doctors, chemists, astronomers, oceanographers and geologists.

New technologies, which didn't even exist 10 years ago, are at hand.

We are now learning that industry can do things in space it can't do on earth. Take one example out of many:

In the weightlessness of orbital space flight fluids take the shape of a perfect sphere, unattainable on earth. Thus, metal ballbearings could be produced in space to tolerances otherwise impossible, thus achieving the vastly important goal of reducing friction to the vanishing point.

Will the United States be first to put men on the moon as Jules Verne foresaw? We can't be absolutely sure because so much of the Soviet space work is secret while ours is open. But at this point, with a manned landing scheduled for next year, the evidence is that the United States is considerably ahead in what is most needed: 15 U.S. manned flights to 10 Soviet; nine U.S. rendezvous and docking experiments to four Soviet; 2,000 U.S. man-hours in space to some 500 Soviet; 12 hours by U.S. astronauts outside their craft to two hours by Soviet astronauts.

Being first isn't crucial, but it doesn't hurt. I have suggested that man—because he is man—will do anything he is capable of doing. I would go further: man is capable of doing anything he can think of. This is why the Friday-night science fiction television show Star Trek is so pleasantly mind-stretching.

Obviously other planets and the galaxies are next. And after that, perhaps, comfortable living in outer space because man's environment is expanded.

Don MacLean

Big stories of year

WASHINGTON — Along about this time every year the columnists, newspapers, magazine and television newscasters break out in a rash of dissertations known as "The Great Stories of the Past Twelve Months."

There are two theories as to why they do this. One is that they think most of us slept the year away and, therefore, missed something. The other is that it gives the newshawks a chance to show how excellently they covered world events for us. (Hooray for NBC! A salute to Time!)

My thinking is that it would be of more value if they reviewed for us some of the great occurrences they ignored and/or a few of the unsung heroes they completely overlooked. Hastening to fill this void, I now give you a brief summary of "The Great Unknown Events and Obscure Champions of 1968."

There was, for instance, Baldrige W. Whiplash, white, 46, who, despite the advice of friends and the pleadings of his family, moved from the suburbs back into the city! Although no one has heard from Baldrige now in several months, it is assumed that he is alive and well.

Working in basement

We have Percy G. Lilacwater, an interior decorator, who, working unheralded in his basement, designed a basically square peace table with optional leaves. In a wink he can make his table square, rectangular, triangular or, even, trapezoidal. In 1969 there is no question the Paris negotiators will beat a path to his door.

One of the big, overlooked stories of the year occurred in Scratchback, Wyo., where city officials threw the government in Washington into chaos when they announced that, henceforth, they would refuse all Federal aid. While the city fathers are engaged in digging a moat around the town, Federal troops are being dispatched to force Scratchback to take aid.

And how can we possibly forget Penelope Prettyfoot? This marvelous woman, when stopped on the street by a TV interviewer and asked what she thought of the Jackie Kennedy-Aristotle Onassis wedding, said, "Well, I've heard of him, but who is she?"

On the campus of Compost University they are erecting a statue to one of the most unusual students of our time, Norman Paperback. While students across the country were rioting and shelling the dean's office, Norman was observed in the library, preparing a term paper! His words, "I think it's only right to study; after all, this school is costing my parents money," will live forever.

So much for 1968. Let us go onward.

1968 — that's the year everyone said was going to be "Happy!" Were they wrong!

Do you know what 1969 will be? The year Nixon decides he didn't want to be President, after all.

Pity LBJ. From now on, when he wants to change the country, he'll either have to picket or write his Congressman.

Discouraging note: Rumor has it that the peace negotiators in Paris just sent out for five-year calendars.

Allen - Goldsmith Report

Debate expected

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — In their recent private talk, President-elect Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Henry M. Jackson agreed that top priority in United States policy must go to maintaining strategic forces strong enough to deter military adventures by Russia and her allies.

The senator, although he is a Democrat, was Nixon's first choice to be Secretary of Defense. It is therefore not surprising that they were generally agreed, in their 45-minute conversation in New York, on the need for a stronger deterrent force.

The point is open to very serious disagreement, however, as events will demonstrate in coming months. The question, "how strong is strong enough?" is already provoking controversy, and it promises to generate a Great Debate in Congress after he House and Senate reconvene next month.

Even after cuts totaling more than five billion dollars, the defense bill passed by Congress in October carried $71.9 billion and was the largest appropriation in history. It provoked complaints from some lawmakers, then, that defense outlays leave little room for aid to education, welfare programs and other national needs.

Two unsuccessful Democratic presidential aspirants, Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and George McGovern, D-S.D., have been talking, since the election, of cuts in defense spending. Both warn of the pervasive threat of the military-industrial complex of which President Eisenhower spoke before he left the White House.

On the other hand, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., says defense spending must now increase. Long the Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Russell moves over this year to head the powerful Appropriations Committee.

"We have drawn down too long from the pantry shelf of military hardware for us not to recognize that the day of reckoning must come, and it will come very soon," says Russell.

"The time is coming when we must modernize our ranks. We must replace our aging ships, and equip modern ships with reliable missiles. We must replace our present fighters with even better ones."

Power balance

"Within a year," said candidate Nixon in a television speech, "the Soviet Union will catch the United States and, if we don't get a change of leadership and policy in Washington, will pass us in deliverable nuclear capability."

Here, from recent intelligence estimates, is a year-end comparison of nuclear strength:

USSR	UNITED STATES
1,050-1,100 Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles	1,054
250 Submarine-Launched Ballistic Missiles	656
160 Strategic Bombers	680

3,500 Short-range missiles and tactical 7,000 weapons

It is clear that the Russians, who were credited with only 720 ready ICBMs in the fall of 1967, have speeded their production of intercontinental missiles. To offset this development the Pentagon is moving to perfect the multiple warhead system, MIRV, which will increase, by five to ten times, the number of warheads which can be delivered by the U.S. missile force.

(Sooner or later, however, the Russians will be able to develop a MIRV of their own. Then their larger and more powerful rockets will be able to deliver an even larger number of nuclear warheads.)

Two important developments are not reflected in the table. The Russians have deployed an anti-missile defense (ABM) around Moscow. They have another anti-aircraft system which may afford some protection against missiles. The Pentagon is moving to deploy an anti-missile screen, but it is designed, ostensibly, to protect against attack from China in the mid-1970s.

The Russians have also developed and tested an orbital bombardment system, FOBS, which is a potential threat, especially to U.S. bomber bases. Aside from vital intelligence-gathering satellites, the Air Force's manned orbiting laboratory, MOL, is our only major military space effort, and it is not scheduled for manned launch until 1971.

President-elect Nixon, recalling the "unquestioned" nuclear superiority of the Eisenhower years, sees the shifting power balance as a handicap for efforts of his new administration aimed at defusing world trouble spots by negotiation.

Pentagon authorities dispute Nixon's campaign charge that "we have a gravely serious security gap." They too are concerned, however, about the Russians' increasing strategic potential.

As long ago as last April, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said he was apprehensive about the trend of U.S. strategic capacity as against Russia's. Wheeler commented, however, that the trend is not irreversible.

Wheeler called the present military alignment a good force "and not one that causes me to fear for the future of the United States." He added, in the next breath that the force can — and should — be better, with the addition of new weapons systems.

The expensive weapons desired by Wheeler and his uniformed associates in the Pentagon will be discussed in another column.

Next: What do the generals want — a Pentagon shopping list.

Letters to the Editor

Compliment to Record

Editor, The Record

I would like to compliment The Pocono Record for presenting the daily column last week written by David Ottaway of the Record Washington Bureau.

In particular, I found his story about our State Department to be accurate, refreshing and disturbing. In the course of my work, I have made over 400 visits to our Foreign Service offices in many parts of the world. I have also visited their "Foggy Bottom" head office in Washington.

Many of the people that Ottaway referred to are acquaintances of mine and I have read extensively on the subject of foreign affairs.

I agree that our blundering state department needs the reform movement referred to.

It is quite possible that the present war could have ended last year if the department had been reorganized in the way that David Ottaway's article suggests.

Three major atrocities

Editor, The Record:

In man's long history of inhumanity to his fellow-man, three major atrocities stand out:

1. The extermination of 6,000,000 Jews by Nazi Germany.
2. The selling into world slavery of 15,000,000 Africans by the warring kings of that continent.
3. The torturing, burning and life imprisonment of untold thousands of "heretics" by the medieval Church.

Now a fourth such atrocity looms on the horizon: the rape of lovely, primitive Vietnam.

Left to work out their own destiny, these people would long ago have achieved unity and a stable government. The interference in their internal affairs by Russia, China and the United States with weapons and advisors, perpetuates the agony. The U.S., by sending troops, must assume the major guilt. We have already napalmed, bombed and shot to death 1,000,000 of these pathetic little men, women and children.

These are primitive farm folk who don't know a communist from a capitalist and care less. These are patriots fighting for their independence. They will never quit. Are we so far removed from 1776 that we cannot understand this?

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said, "This is my own, my native land"?

O America, this evil, like slavery, shall forever dim thy lustre!

Cause of hepatitis

Can hepatitis be the result of an improper transfusion?

Hepatitis or inflammation of the liver is caused by a virus that sometimes can be present in the blood given to a patient in need of transfusion. It is not caused by improper matching or grouping of the blood of the donor or the recipient.

Serum hepatitis is one of the unfortunate aftermaths of transfusions. It happens so rarely, however, that when there is a need for blood the fear of hepatitis is never considered as a possibility. A transfusion almost always means there is an urgent need for replacement of blood. The advantage, of course, is no disadvantages.

Serum hepa is known as homologous serum jaundice and may develop a long time after contaminated blood is unsuspectingly used. The danger of this complication after one or more transfusions has, in recent years, been reduced markedly by the most modern techniques for taking, sterilizing and preserving blood.

One of the factors in serum hepatitis was traced to the use of needles and syringes that were used repeatedly. Today, disposable needles and syringes are used only once when blood is taken from a donor and when it is given to a patient.

Exposure of the blood to ultraviolet rays has been tried with moderate success. The safest rule, which is scrupulously followed, is to reject any donor who gives a vague story of a recent illness. It is expected that serum hepatitis soon may be completely avoided by the scientific work now in progress.

Is group therapy an accepted form of psychoanalysis? What are its advantages?

All schools and methods of psychoanalysis have a single purpose and goal, namely to help an individual to gain a greater insight into his emotions and better adapt himself to the stresses of modern day living. There are many physical symptoms which may be traced to his emotions if careful examination fails to show the cause.

The followers of Freud, White, Sullivan, Adler and Horney all maturely recognize that there is constant room for improvement in techniques and in more rapid attainment of their target.

Outgoing senator blasts Nixon plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, onetime mayor of the nation's third largest city, says President-elect Nixon's plan for tax incentives to spur redevelopment of the nation's slums is a governmental bribe that won't work.

"I don't see an able businessman going out of his way to waste his time trying to rebuild the slums of America on the basis of a bribe from the government," Clark said in an interview just prior to moving out of his Senate office.

"I've been a lawyer," he said. "I'm very familiar with what you have to do to run a successful business. I'm very aware of an executive's responsibilities to his stockholders. I just don't think this tax incentive proposal will convince anyone to do much of anything. I don't think it will work."

Evangelist to speak in Portland

PORTLAND — "The Flying Evangelist" will speak during the 9:20 and 10:30 a.m. services Sunday in the Portland Baptist Church. The public has been invited to attend the services.

Since 1949, Rev. Curt J. Wetzel has traveled by plane to preach the gospel in almost every state. However, during the last six years Rev. Wetzel has been without an airplane but has continued his ministry using an automobile.

For the last three years he has served as Director of Visitation and Evangelism of the First Baptist Church, Lock Haven.

Rev. Wetzel served as a flight instructor during World War II and flight tested the nation's first guided missile for the Navy at Fort Dix, N.J.

Clark, a Pennsylvania Democrat, was defeated this year in his bid for a third term in the Senate. He was mayor of Philadelphia before entering the Senate 12 years ago and could have been the No. 2 Democrat on the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee if he had been re-elected.

He described Nixon's proposal as more of a political play than a serious effort to rebuild decayed urban areas and provide adequate housing and jobs for their inhabitants.

Nixon has endorsed suggestions that businesses be given tax breaks for locating plants in such areas and that the housing industry be given similar concessions to spur upgrading of inner city housing.

"I think the entire thing is a shadow boxing effort to retain the loyalty of the business community while giving the appearance of cutting federal expenditures," Clark said.

Clark said he expects the incoming administration to emphasize beefing up the nation's stockpile of military hardware, appearing to foreclose possibilities for much progress toward solving urban and racial problems.

"My efforts to cut military spending in the last Congress were certainly extremely unsuccessful," Clark said, recalling the overwhelming rejection of general slashes he proposed. "Even if we end the war in Vietnam and begin a military cutback there will still be a budget deficit—and I see no alternative but to cut back domestic programs."

"I don't think the American people are in any mood to accept increased taxes to increase domestic programs," he said.

"As a result of all these things, I think we are headed for a good deal more disillusionment and resentment from the poor—both in the cities and in rural areas."

House Democrats to slash number of chamber committees

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats have served notice that they intend to cut the number of standing committees in the chamber by one-third when the new legislative session begins in January.

At the same time, they plan to give minority Republicans more representation on the committees than Democrats had during the last two years of GOP rule.

In addition, Democrats said a panel would be formed to enforce and administer provisions of an ethics code for lawmakers approved by the General Assembly last summer.

The prospective changes were announced over the weekend by Rep. Herbert Fineman of Philadelphia, designated by the Democrats to be the House's next speaker.

The Democrats won control of the House in the November election and will occupy 107 of the 203 seats. There will be one vacancy caused by the death of a legislator.

Fineman said the standing committees would be reduced from 33 to 21, the smallest number in this century. The reduction will "streamline" the process of handling bills, he said.

The committees will be composed of 14 majority and nine minority members, rather than the 13 and six ratio used during the 1967 and 1968 session.

Students collect food for needy

STROUDSBURG — The Student Council of Stroudsburg High School did its share in keeping with the spirit of Christmas.

For the past two weeks, council members have collected canned food brought in by the student body.

More than 600 cans of assorted foods were contributed. The food was distributed to needy families throughout the Christmas holiday.

The drive was organized by James Triccoli, assistant principal of the school. Although the goal of 1,000 cans was not attained, everyone was pleased with the response. The junior high school was also active in the drive.

The Student Council also brightened the halls of the school a little, by purchasing tree.

"Enjoy Luncheon Or A Snack At Our Luncheonette"

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

I hope you've had a happy day. Even the trash today is bright with tinsel and ribbon and all the joyous paraphernalia that took so long to arrange and so brief a time to open.

There's sort of a tinsel-brightness even to getting back to work, as if it weren't quite for real. And for many people the holiday isn't over as children who spent Christmas with one set of grandparents prepare to spend the weekend with the other set, thus sharing the wealth of joy.

However, I'm glad to have got over my bout with the flu early. To those right in the middle of theirs, joy was about the last word they'd apply to a day they'd preferred to have stayed in bed. At the Olaf Pedersen's party, there were 24 regrets in the 12 hours before the party. So you can tell just how wide this thing has spread.

Even with all the casualties, it was practically impossible to park on Bryant Street, and there was a merry throng within. Had a nice insight into the way Hugh Brannum feels about all these local book fairs at which, as Mr. Greenjeans, he has thrilled so many children.

"This is my home," he said, "and I like to be part of the community, and since I'm only home weekends, I'm delighted that I can have a share in these weekend book fairs."

"Besides," he added with a twinkle, "television seems aimed at creating a nation of lookers, not readers, so it's only fair that when I get a chance to encourage children to read I do my share."

We do have a lot of nice people around here besides Santa Claus.

We've even got our local political equivalent of the Nixon-Eisenhower romance now that Pickle Hintze's daughter and Bill Reaser's son are engaged. And like Julie Nixon, Elizabeth Ann had only the families and friends who had known them from childhood at the announcement party on Christmas night.

School art displayed for PTA

BRODHEADSVILLE — Children from all the buildings exhibited Christmas things they had made at the meeting of the Pleasant Valley Elementary Parent-Teacher Assn.

The displays were enjoyed by the many parents attending. In the PTA project, first prize was won by Larry Court, second prize by Lloyd Berger and third by Dorothy Switzgale.

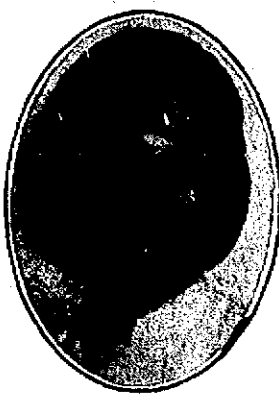

Four Christmas trees which had been decorated by the children were also given away to Lois Sue Serfass, Dennis McGurney, Deborah Overpeck and Kathleen Shafer.

Two stuffed Santas which had been donated were also given away to Kathleen Johnson and James Rissmiller. Refreshments were served.

Fashion Show at ski lodge

TANNERSVILLE — A fashion show for the ski and apres-ski crowd at Camelback Ski area will be presented in the lounge on Saturday night, Dec. 28.

Gemilio's Boutique of South Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, will present bell-bottoms, slacks suits, dresses, capes and accessories. There will be also a band for entertainment and dancing.

Miss Mary Kay Schmitz

To be June bride of MIT alumni

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mr. and Mrs. William Schmitz of East Stroudsburg R.D. 3 announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Kay, to Charles W. Buenzi Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Buenzi Sr. of 48 Stemple St., East Stroudsburg.

Miss Schmitz, a graduate of South Milwaukee High School, South Milwaukee, Wis., is employed as a secretary at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Mr. Buenzi is a senior in electronic engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass. He was graduated from East Stroudsburg Junior-Senior High School.

They are planning on a June 21, 1969, wedding.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Hintze

Hintze-Reaser engagement announced at Yule party

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE — Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hintze, Hialeah, Shawnee-on-Delaware, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Ann, to William John Reaser Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William John Reaser Sr., of 198 Huston Ave., Stroudsburg.

The announcement was made on Christmas night when Mr. and Mrs. Hintze entertained at an open house for members of the families and close friends of the engaged couple.

Miss Hintze, whose father is a Monroe County Commissioner, is a 1967 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, and is a senior at Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers, in New York City.

Mr. Reaser, a 1967 graduate of Stroudsburg High School, is a pre-law student at Muhlenberg College, Allentown. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Karen Louise Kessler

Kessler-Woolley betrothal

EASTON — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pritchard of R.D. 1 Easton have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen Louise Kessler to Barry Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Woolley Jr., of Pen Argyl.

Miss Kessler was graduated from Pen Argyl High School, and Eastern Northampton County Vocational-Technical School of Practical Nursing. She is employed by the Easton Hospital.

Her fiancé was graduated from the same high school, and attended Trinidad State Jr. College, Colorado. He is presently employed by Lehigh Inc.

West End Legion Aux. makes gifts

GILBERT — A Christmas party and program was held by the West End Memorial Unit 927, American Legion Aux. at their December meeting for members of the post and unit and their families.

Songs and recitations were presented by Tammy Shupp, Wendy Meekes, Denise and Jane Conklin, Sandra Hoffman, Eddie Shupp and Charles Conklin.

The group sang Christmas carols while waiting the arrival of Santa Claus. After talking with the children, he had gifts, candy and oranges for all of them. There were also gifts for the unit's Gold Star Mothers.

A brief meeting was held before the party with Anita Werner, president, in charge. The group had sent $10 to the Auxiliary Christmas gift program for veterans; $10 to the Wilkes Barre Veteran's Hospital gift shop; more than 350 Christmas cards and stamps had also been sent to the Wilkes-Barre Hospital for the use of the patients.

The unit also gave $15 to the Community Chest and Red Cross and $5 for a Christmas Seal bond.

It was announced that the membership had surpassed the goal set for them.

Children join in Christmas entertainment

BANGOR — David Johnson of the staff of Kirkridge spoke on "No Room at the Inn" at services of the Bangor Presbyterian Church.

The annual Christmas program by the children of the nursery, primary and junior departments was presented in the church school with Mrs. Forrester Edwards as chairman.

Presenting recitations were Kim LeClair, Lisa Wills, Craig Reddinger, Ruth Ellen Fisher, Michael Kessler, Kevin Roberts, Kay Ann Reddinger, Richard Van Norman, Scott Hettenbach, Larry Fisher, Kathleen Dorsey, Verian Roberts, Melody Van Norman, Charles and Karen Hettenbach, Lauri London, Richard Price, Ron Williams, Randy Kessler, Beth Fisher and Wanda LeClair. Cynthia and Patty Dorsey played a piano duet.

Garden Club transforms clubroom into Christmas-bright bower

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Garden Club entertained the members of the Conquerors Club at their Christmas meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. where special decorations transformed the meeting rooms into a winter wonderland.

The gift of the executive board to the president, Mrs. Jacob Z. Hartman, was presented by Mrs. Harold Lanterman. Made by Mrs. James Smith it featured a pink maine Christmas tree with Santa on top on a circle of paper money.

Many members brought small bedside arrangements which were given to patients at the Mar-Ment Nursing Home, East Stroudsburg.

The arrangement for the president's table, made by Mrs. Mark Bristol, featured a white Christmas tree trimmed with holly filled with white and red mums, fir greens and a red pixie on top.

The arrangement table featured door decorations by Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, Mrs. B.F. Newswanger, Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Thomas Will III, Mrs. Richard Goss, Mrs. Bristol and Mrs. A. Starr Phelps.

Table centerpieces by Mrs. Elwood Grant featured spiral cone trees with natural moss base on a wooden cut base flanked by bronze and pewter candleholders from Oran with fresh holly at the base of green candles. Sprays of fresh pine and holly were intertwined through the arrangements which decorated the tea and coffee table.

On the cookie table were date and nut bread, grapefruit and cranberry bread, nuts and candy. Mrs. Grant had made a topiary tree of hemlock cones, sprayed white, and decorated with red velvet bows and red cardinals in a white flower pot circled at the base with fresh pine and holly.

The Conquerors Club tea table was decorated by Mrs. Mae Frank and Mrs. Mary Ann Michelfelder. It featured a snow man with fresh greens. Each guest was presented with a Christmas corsage and bar of scented soap as gifts of the Garden Club.

Another effective arrangement was the Three Kings made by Mrs. Thomas Wiss in gilded cloth.

History of library
The program featured Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, librarian of the Monroe County Public Library, who gave a history of the library, which grew from two libraries, one in Stroudsburg and one in East Stroudsburg.

The first library in the area was called the Stroudsburg Library Company and had its own building at Eighth and Main Streets in the former Shafer home in 1832.

The Stroudsburg Library, founded by the Woman's Civic Club of Stroudsburg through Miss Blanche Cramer was started in 1916 in the Stroud Community House purchased through the Woman's Club for that purpose.

Although Mrs. Kane did not know the date of the founding of the East Stroudsburg Library through the East Stroudsburg Women's Civic Club, she remembers that when she was a volunteer in that library, located in the former Elks Building next to the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, in 1932 the Monroe County Garden Club contributed a shelf of garden books.

When Mrs. Kane became Stroudsburg librarian in 1936, there were 5,500 books and registered 75 or 100 people a year. The shelves were not organized with poetry next to a book on shoeing a horse.

In 1940, the library served the entire county of Monroe, with a budget of $300 a year.

Now with a budget of $30,000 a year, they loan from 150,000 to 180,000 books each year. The bookmobile covers the entire county.

Other landmark dates in the library history were 1950 when they joined the library loan

Laurel Manor has carols at breakfast

STROUDSBURG — The residents of Laurel Manor, Stroudsburg, had a breakfast surprise when Leonard Rinaldi sang for them.

He sang "O Come All Ye Faithful" in Latin, and followed it with "Silent Night."

Soroptimists mark holiday with dinner party, music

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Soroptimists held their Christmas party at the Motel Inn Towne. Hostesses were the Misses Elizabeth Martin and Anna Stern.

At the social before the dinner, Jean Barthold presided at the Christmas bazaar table. Proceeds from the project will go to the club's welfare fund.

Dinner was served at a Christmas table where each member received a Santa gift and favors.

The Mixed Chorus of Stroudsburg High School, under the direction of Numa Snyder, entertained with Christmas carols.

The door prize was won by system and 1961 when they became members of the district library in Easton.

Books as well as phonograph records and films can be borrowed. In six months last year more than 700 records were loaned, she reported. Any resident or organization can use the film service to obtain films from Easton or Harrisburg, she said.

Carol singing for the meeting was led by Mrs. Elwood Grant with Mrs. Ernest Swartz as pianist.

The hospitality committee included Mrs. B.F. Newswanger, Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. Richard Goss, Mrs. Roy M. Houser, Mrs. Willis D. Goddard, Mrs. William O. Howell, Mrs. Russell Custard, Mrs. William D. Hawn, Mrs. William Wallace and the Misses Margaret and Rose Nils, Mrs. Thomas Wiss and Mrs. George T. Walker poured at the tea table.

King Mellon loosens firm grip on one of America's largest fortunes mission

PITTSBURGH (AP) — —Rich-ard King Mellon, for more than 30 years the guiding force of one of America's greatest family fortunes, is slowly giving up the reins of leadership.

This year he has spent less than half the normal working days in the serene offices of T. Mellon & Sons — the clearing house for the immense family holdings and charities.

Although there is no doubt that he is still the family patriarch, he has relinquished, one by one, dozens of directorships in business and civic groups until he is down to only a handful. He plans to disengage further, possibly next year when he turns 70.

However, he will probably never retire completely.

"Short of being hopelessly incapacitated, there is no such thing as retirement for a man of property," he told a reporter last year in one of the few interviews he has granted during three decades as one of the most important, but least known, men in American business and finance.

There are no public figures on the wealth of the Mellons. Fortune Magazine estimates it at $3 billion, making them richer than the Rockefellers and probably exceeded only by J. Paul Getty.

The main holdings are: Gulf Oil Corp., the world's third largest producer of crude oil and the nation's 10th largest company in sales. The Mellons control 25 per cent of the common stock, with a market value of $1.9 billion.

The Aluminum Co. of America, the nation's largest. The family owns 30 per cent of the stock, worth about $490 million. The Mellon National Bank & Trust Co., one of the country's largest. The family's equity is about $200 million.

The Mellons also control 20 per cent of the Koppers Co., the Carborundum Co., the First Boston Corp. and the General Reinsurance Corp. In addition, Richard Mellon is one of the largest shareholders in General Motors with about $20 million in stock.

With such wealth, the Mellons can live as they please. And they chose to live in comfortable, quiet good taste almost totally insulated from the public.

Directors nominated by Chamber

EAST STROUDSBURG — Three new directors have been nominated for the board of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

Meeting at the Beaver House, the nominating committee named Robert Entwistle of First Stroudsburg National Bank, Irving Goldberg of Tobyhanna Army Depot, and William Schmidt of McGraw-Edison.

Action on the nominations will be taken at the January meeting of the Chamber.

The committee also offered the same slate of officers for 1969. They are Joseph Lisicky of First Stroudsburg National Bank, president; Jesse R.S. Flory of East Stroudsburg National Bank, first vice president; Ralph Reppert of Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., second vice president; H. Glen Sanborn III of Monroe Security Bank and Trust Company, treasurer; Chester Miller of Radio Station WVPO, assistant treasurer; and E.B. Chura, Bell Telephone Co., secretary.

The board voted to support the Keystone Shortway Assn., the prime mover of Interstate Rte. 60 in Pennsylvania; and to purchase trophies for the East Stroudsburg State College's Pocono Basketball Classic.

The Pocono Mountains Junior Chamber of Commerce thanked the senior chamber's "support of the Jaycees' Halloween Parade."

In other action, the Chamber's board directed executive director, Foster Blair, to write a letter to Monroe County's commissioners, urging them to set up a county authority, allowing the area to have far-flung borrowing authority for new plants and industry.

Except for a talk with Fortune Magazine last year, Mellon has not given an interview to a reporter in years. Even J. Stanley Purnell, Mellon's assistant in charge of public affairs, goes weeks without seeing him when he is around and commuting daily from Ligonier, one of the nation's wealthiest communities, to T. Mellon. Associates are guarded when talking to outsiders about Mellon. Nevertheless, it is known that he loves the outdoors and is an avid hunter and rider. He owns a game preserve on Laurel Mountain just east of Ligonier where he bounces around on a jeep to do his shooting. And it goes without saying that he is a consummate businessman who has nurtured the family fortune.

See 'ex' first

By JEAN ADAMS

RETURN MATCH? (Q.) My ex-girl friend is moving back from Virginia. She wrote and said she wants to go back steady with me.

I like her and want to. But I have another girl friend now. I like her, too, but not as much as my old steady. How can I tell my new girl it's over with us without hurting her?

M. in North Carolina

(A.) You can't. But you can tell her in a way to hurt her as little as possible. Let's not however, get in too big a hurry. Don't do anything until your ex returns. Then quietly go visit her. You may find things are not the same as they were. People do change, you know. If this has happened you can go your way and she can go hers.

You may, of course, find that you and she are as fond of each other as ever. If you do, tell your girl friend the truth at once. This will hurt her far less than if she happened to find out by seeing you and the "original" out together.

TREATMENT: (Q.) My best girl friend went out with one of my boy friends. Afterward she told me I'd better not go out with him any more, but I did anyway.

On our date he told me that on their date my girl friend got drunk and went all the way with him.

He wants to do the same thing with me he says he did with her. He claims he loves me. I like him so-o-o much but have never really let him know it.

I've tried to tell my girl friend what I know and get her to talk to me about it, but she won't listen to me or talk to me. Should I hold this against her or forget it?

—Mixed Up in Maine

(A.) You don't ask the most important question: "What shall I do about my boy friend?"

DROP HIM!

Don't go out with him. Don't listen to his stories or his urgings. He may be telling the truth about your girl friend or he may be lying. Either way he's giving you the treatment — not because he loves you but because he wants to add your name to his list.

Don't try to talk with your girl friend about this boy. Let the subject die — for good. And don't hold anything against her.

If he told her the same thing about you — and he may have — would you want her to hold it against you? This is your answer.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, in care of the Pocono Record, 511 Lenox St. Stroudsburg, Pa. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Selection criteria
The criteria for choosing the winner are based on the girl's dependability, her service to the school, her leadership and personality, and her patriotism in the home, school, and community.

Miss Zateeny will receive the Good Citizen's pin and a certificate from the sponsoring chapter. In January, she will take a competitive exam to qualify for the State Good Citizen.

Area youth wins honor at college

STROUDSBURG — David E. Shupp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Shupp, Stroudsburg R.D. 4, was recently honored during a luncheon for 41 undergraduate students at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro, N.M.

Shupp is a senior majoring in metallurgy and was recognized for attaining a 3.25 or better point average in his course work at Tech.

A 1962 graduate of Stroudsburg High School, Shupp received an associate degree in mechanical engineering from Broome Tech, Binghamton, N.Y. in 1964.

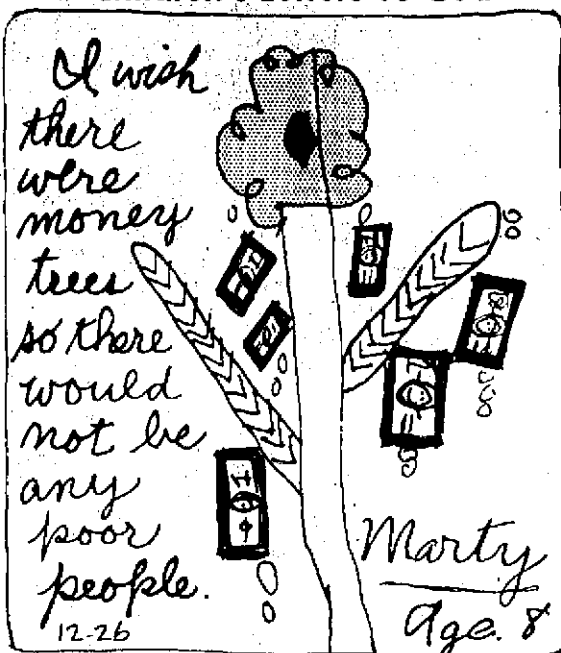

Shupp and his wife, Charlene, are living in Socorro and upon graduation in January will move to Pittsfield where he has accepted a position with General Electric.

Hearing set for mental health plan

STROUDSBURG — A public hearing on the proposed mental health and mental retardation plan will be held Wednesday, Jan. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in Court Room Two, Monroe County Courthouse.

Thomas E. Foley, administrator of the Carbon-Monroe-Pike Counties Mental Health and Mental Retardation program said the hearing is scheduled in accordance with program regulations established by the Department of Public Welfare to conform with the MIF-MR Act of 1966.

Christmas carols 'rattle' around cellar of home

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Rattles from the cellar will blend with Christmas carols again this year at the home of Leo Wagner.

The rattles will come from 16 snakes Wagner has caged in the basement of his home.

And the sound of a snake's rattle is "music to my ears," says the herpetologist, who's collected 616 snakes in the past 32 years.

Favoring timber rattlers and massagua or swamp rattlers, Wagner collects the reptiles each spring and autumn in Pennsylvania's northern counties.

For his next year's vacation Wagner doesn't dream of fishing in Canada, sailing at the Bahamas or tiger shooting in India. He's eagerly awaiting an annual rattlesnake hunt in Oklahoma.

He used to supply the Highland Park Zoo in Pittsburgh with snakes but it's just a hobby. He captures the scaly reptiles, cares for them at home during the winter or summer and releases them near the spot where he found them the following spring or fall.

"I first became interested in snakes when I was a young fellow and used to hear old timers talking about them," Wagner said. "I saw snakes in town with a circus and they captured my interest."

But his mother didn't share her son's fascination with snakes. Wagner said she dreaded the animals. She once had police inspect his car before allowing him in the house.

Wagner's wife, Florence, is more complacent. "After all these years (23), what can you expect?" she said.

The snake fancier said he made one thing clear while the couple was dating. His point: "If you want to marry me, you've got to take my snakes, too."

Wagner's enthusiasm over his hobby nearly got him into trouble when he once found six slithering creatures and "tried to get as many as I could."

"I stepped on two and reached down for two more with my hands," he explained. "I got the two in my hands into the sack but the one under my right foot managed to get away and crawl up my calf."

Although Wagner denies that rattlesnake bites are always fatal, he said, "I was worried. I felt my fangs on my leg and was pretty scared until I saw it had only scratched me and didn't draw blood. But I felt venom running down my leg."

He now uses a pair of tongs made from golf club shafts.

The Green Thumb

Evergreen hints

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Record Garden Correspondent
PROTECT EVERGREENS: Here are a few hints for bringing your evergreens through the winter safely.

(1) Make sure they have plenty of water in the soil. Even if the soil is frozen, give them water, if you think the soil is dry.

(2) Apply a mulch of some sort — cocoa bean shells, peatmoss, straw, etc. to keep the ground frozen and to trap the moisture inside. If evergreens were recently planted and are in a windy spot, provide some sort of screen to keep the sun and wind off. Evergreens against a white house often get "scorched" twice — by direct sun's rays and again when the rays bounce off the white siding.

(3) If you object to the unsightly look of burlap, spray the foliage with an anti-wilt spray, found in your garden center.

Do not wrap evergreens or any shrub with plastic sheets. This traps the moisture alright, but it also traps heat and it's the heat which scorches the needles or foliage. Burlap allows heat to escape and you do not get the scorching.

WINDOW SILL GARDENING: Those little kits containing peat pots, herb seeds and a tray for growing herbs indoors are quite fascinating. Some items worth trying include sweet basil, sage, lavender, summer savory, sweet marjoram, thyme, dill, anise, horehound, rosemary, caraway and parsley.

Fill the pots with the soil mixture that comes with the kit, scatter seed on top and cover lightly. Water well, and keep the pots in a room with temperature around 72 degrees. See that the soil does not dry out, not even once.

A good way to prevent drying is to cover the pots with a plastic sheet after you've watered them good. When seed has started, move the tray to the brightest window you have, or the plants will become spindly. From then on, it's a matter of keeping them watered regularly, and make sure they get plenty of light.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?

*Due to iron-poor blood

HERE'S HOW TO FEEL STRONGER FAST

Have you been feeling tired and rundown lately? And do you take vitamins yet still feel tired? If so, your trouble may be due to iron-poor, tired blood. Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid contain 7 vitamins plus twice the blood-building iron in a whole pound of calf's liver. In only one day GERITOL iron is in your bloodstream carrying strength and energy to every part of your body. Check with your doctor, and if iron-poor blood is making you feel tired, take GERITOL liquid or tablets, every day. Feel stronger fast—in 7 days—or money back from GERITOL.

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

This hand is from a par contest and was composed many years ago by W. Nije of Holland.

South is declarer at six spades and would ordinarily make the slam with a successful diamond finesse, assuming the trumps are divided normally.

But when he wins the heart lead in dummy and cashes the ace of spades, West shows out and South has quite a task to perform if he is to avoid the loss of both a trump and a diamond.

To give himself the best chance of making the slam, declarer cashes the K-A of clubs and ruffs a club. He then finesesses the queen of diamonds and ruffs dummy's last club, hoping to eventually establish an endplay position that will permit him to avoid the trump loser.

When declarer now leads a diamond to the ace and follows with a heart to the ace, this becomes the position:

North ♠ 10 7 ♦ 6

West ♠ J 10 ♥ K J ♦ K J ♣ K J

East ♠ J 9 8 ♥ 8 3 ♦ 8 7 4 ♣ J 10 7 5

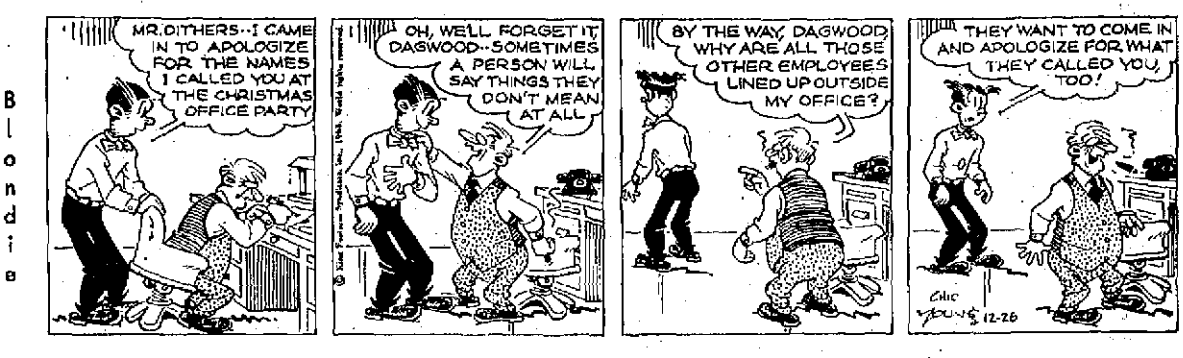

South ♠ K 5 4 3 2 ♥ A 9 5 ♦ 8 3 2 ♣ K 5

South ruffs the nine of hearts with the queen of spades, East discarding a diamond, but East then finds himself endplayed in trumps when declarer returns the six of diamonds and East is forced to ruff.

You might say that this is very clever play by South. Actually, the point of the hand is defense.

To avoid the endplay, East should undertrump the queen of spades with the eight, because he can see that if he discards a diamond, he is, in effect, putting his head in a noose.

If he undertrumps, South cannot avoid going down one.

Ann Landers

Don't tolerate fools

Dear Ann Landers: I have an eight-year-old granddaughter who was severely burned when she was three-and-a-half years of age. The burns healed eventually, but her once beautiful little face is now badly disfigured and the skin is red and purple.

Whenever the child goes anywhere, people insist on staring. Some even gasp, as if the sight of her is revolting. I have been present when strangers have come up and asked, "What happened to the child?" All this within her hearing, mind you.

Can't they see that she met with an accident? Don't they realize it hurts us when she is singled out — and it hurts her, too.

Please, Ann, tell me what to say to these rude and thoughtless people. I can't find the words.

OREGON GRANDMA

Dear Oregon: The next time someone asks, "What happened to the child?" reply, "What possible interest could you, a stranger, have in the details?" And look the codd straight in the eye when you say it. He might learn something.

Dear Ann: I'm an average looking, hard working, fun loving, 21-year-old girl who has a great job. I live with two of the most wonderful people in the world, my parents.

I'm not thinking of getting married for at least five years, but something has been bothering me. I love children and I want a large family, but I don't want to have children. I want to adopt them.

Ever since I can remember I have been petrified of doctors. I hate pain. When anyone even talks about giving blood I must excuse myself. I get physically ill.

It would be unfair to marry a man and not tell him how I feel about this. Yet I realize no normal male would agree to adopt a family if he could have his own. Please tell me what to do, Ann.

M. I. CONFUSED?

Dear Friend: One of the strongest drives of all animals, including the human animal, is the drive to reproduce. An important element of romance and married love is the desire to produce a child with the combined qualities and characteristics of yourself and your beloved. When fear eclipses the most basic of human drives, it indicates the presence of a severe psychological impediment.

I'm glad you don't plan to marry for at least five years. You are not ready for marriage and you won't be ready until you rid yourself of this crippling fear. Get professional help, Girl.

Confidential to Anonymous 71-year-old: Your generosity is overwhelming. If you will send me your name and address and restate your offer, I promise to protect your identity.

W. Maher services Friday

WILLOW GROVE — A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated for William G. Maher, 87, of 45 N. Tenth St., Stroudsburg, Friday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, Stroudsburg, with the Rev. Francis G. Barrett as celebrant.

Born in Minersville, Mr. Maher moved to Narbeth, Pa. and subsequently came to Stroudsburg in 1947.

He retired from the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1947. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Alice M. McGraw, Willow Grove.

Mr. Maher was a member of St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, Stroudsburg.

Friends and relatives may call at the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home Thursday after 7 p.m.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.

Burial will be in Stroudsburg cemetery.

H. R. LaBar's services held

STROUDSBURG — Funeral services were held Monday for Harold R. LaBar, 67, of 563 Ann St., Stroudsburg, in the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home with the Rev. David G. High officiating.

Burial was in Stroudsburg cemetery.

Pallbearers were Calvin LaBar, Lester Smith, William Coolbaugh, James Parry Sr., James Parry Jr., and Harry Serfass.

Y's holiday activities continue

STROUDSBURG — The Young Men's Christian Association, in Stroudsburg, on Saturday will feature finals in archery and swimming contests.

The YMCA of Monroe County is holding special events for its members during the Christmas vacation. The program included archery, soccer, volleyball, basketball, wrestling, swimming and BB gun marksmanship.

The finals in swimming and archery will be a part of the holiday special to be held on Saturday beginning at 9:30.

The swimming contests will be held in free style, back crawl, under water swim, penny and other dives and a few events for non-swimmers. The contests will be held by age groups which will afford the highest amount of interest.

Girl's archery could prove to be a big success and free-throw shooting contest in basketball.

For further information on other program highlights, pick up a holiday schedule at the YMCA or call 421-2525.

These activities are free to members.

Stormsville resident dies in hospital at 62

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Kathryn Rose Quinn, of Stormsville, Stroudsburg R.D. 1, died Tuesday in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Born in Brooklyn N.Y., she was a daughter of the Fred and Anne Hill White. She had lived in Stormsville the past 15 years, having moved here from Brooklyn, N.Y.

Roseto band leader dies at age 83

ROSETO — Aurelio William Ruggiero, 83, died Monday in his home at 46 Dante St., Roseto.

Born in Cavaro, Italy, he was a son of the late Donato and Conrigila Delbuno Ruggiero. He had lived in Roseto the past 72 years.

Before retiring 10 years ago, Mr. Ruggiero had been employed by various state quarries in the area. He was active when Roseto was incorporated in 1912.

Mr. Ruggiero had served at a school director for 12 years and at one time was president of the school board. He also served as borough auditor.

He was a member of Our Lady on Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church, Roseto, and was a member and former manager of the Roseto Cornet Band for many years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Michellina Sesson Ruggiero, at home; four sons, Daniel, Wind Gap; Alfred and Arthur, both of Roseto; Louis, Los Angeles, Calif.; four daughters, Mrs. Philip Sabatino, Wind Gap; Mrs. Sylvia Pollicelli, Pen Argyl; Mrs. Joseph Bosto, Easton, and Miss Angelina Ruggiero, at home; 11 grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Concetta Carzzi, Long Island, N.Y.

The funeral will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. in the Hough Home for Funerals, Bangor, followed by Requiem High Mass at 10 a.m. in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church.

Frozen lines stall drivers

STROUDSBURG — Cold weather during the Christmas holiday didn't keep State Police nor the Pennsylvania Department of Highways Motorist Aid Program driver busy, but some motorists needed help.

A spokesman for the MAP Wednesday said they had only one call Christmas Eve.

State Police along Interstate Rt. 80, who handle emergency telephone calls from telephones along the highway, said most of the calls from people stranded along Rt. 80 were those who forgot to put a drying agent in their gasoline tank.

It seems that some drivers had trouble keeping gas lines from freezing.

E.S. Normal graduate dies at 91

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Laura B. Miller, 91, of 13 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, an 1898 graduate of East Stroudsburg Normal School, died Monday night in Pleasant Valley Manor.

Mrs. Miller taught school for four years in Stroudsburg schools and for 50 years taught in primary Sunday School classes at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Born in Hamilton Twp., she was a daughter of the late John and Lizzie Fabel Bartholomew. She was the widow of Harry F. Miller.

Mrs. Miller was a member of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

She is survived by a son, John B. Miller, Stroudsburg, and three great grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the William R. Thomas Funeral Home with the Rev. David G. High officiating.

Burial will be in Stroudsburg cemetery.

There will be no viewing and the family has asked that flowers not be sent.

R. Edwards, Bangor, dies at 60

EASTON — Russell Edwards, 60, of 1103 Roosevelt St., Bangor, died Tuesday morning in Easton Hospital where he had been a patient for three weeks.

Born in Bangor, he was a son of the late Frank and Lillian Edwards.

Mr. Edwards had been employed by Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the past 20 years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Theresa DeLorenzo Edwards, at home and a sister, Miss Margaret Edwards, Pen Argyl.

Services will be held Friday at 11 a.m. in the Schiavone Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass at 11:30 a.m. in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church, Roseto.

A high-contrast, black and white photograph showing a young child from the side, leaning over a large, curved structure with prominent horizontal stripes. The child is wearing a light-colored, short-sleeved shirt with dark horizontal stripes. Their hands are resting on the curved surface. The structure itself is large and curved, resembling a giant wheel or a large piece of playground equipment. In the lower right corner, a small, light-colored toy figure is visible on the ground. The background is dark and indistinct.

A high-contrast, black and white photograph of a small kitten curled up inside a large, dark, oval-shaped container, possibly a hat or a basket. The kitten is positioned in the center, with its head tucked down and its front paws visible, resting on the rim of the container. The container has a dark, textured interior with some lighter, curved lines. The background is dark and indistinct.

North beats South by field goal; lowest scoring duel in Shrine series

MIAMI (UPI)—A couple of Colorado boys, Rocky Martin and Mike Schmitzer, teamed up Christmas night to shut out a South team and gain a narrow 3-0 victory in the 23rd annual Shrine College All-Star charity football game.

The only score came with 8:54 left in the first period when Michigan State fullback Dick Berlinski arched a towering 23-yard field goal over the crossbar for the North.

Statistics

	North	South
First downs	21	15
Rushing yardage	211	169
Passing yardage	96	109
Return yardage	2	27
Fumbles	9-26-1	0-25-1
Punts	9-37-1	5-26-4
Fumbles lost	3	1
Yards penalized	35	15

On third down, after Florida splinter-sized quarterback Larry Rentz marched the South 57 yards to the North one-yard line for a first and goal to go, the 230-pound Schmitzer jarred the ball loose from Rentz, and Martin pounced on it, ending the fourth-quarter drive.

The All Stars battled furiously for the remaining 10 minutes of the game. The North squad, led by six Notre Dame stars and coached by Ara Parseghian, emerged with a third consecutive victory before 18,963 fans in the Orange Bowl and a national television audience.

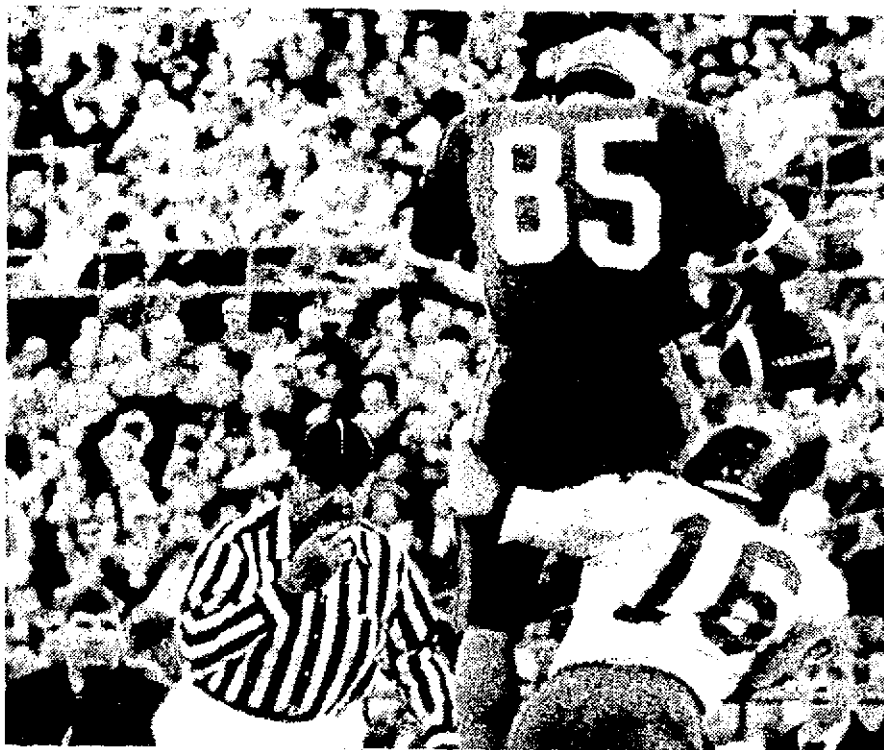

Notre Dame running back Bob Gladieux set up the field goal by breaking loose for 63 yards around left end to put the North in position to score at the South 20. Gladieux was voted the most valuable player for the North.

There were many moments of offensive suspense in this battle for the benefit of crippled children, but they produced six pass interceptions and three fumble recoveries rather than points.

The North threatened twice in the closing three minutes of the game, but couldn't make the score, smallest in the series, any higher.

Martin, a 210-pound linebacker from Sherry Creek, Colo., also shut out a South threat in the first period by intercepting a pass at the North three thrown by Sonny Wade, of Emory and Henry of Virginia, alternate quarterback for the South.

Wade also suffered two other pass interceptions which cut short South drives, both interceptions made by Dennis Hale

Jim Seymour of the North All Stars (85) goes high in the air to try for a pass from Coley O'Brien but the ball bounces out of his arms as Wally Oylar of the South (16) tackles him around the legs during the first period of the Shrine North-South game Wednesday in Miami. The North defeated the South, 3-0.

of Minnesota, who also stole one from Rentz.

Late in the first period, the South marched 61 yards before Martin intercepted at the three. Rentz hit Georgia Tech end John Sias with two 11-yard passes, then retired for a quarter with a lacerated nose, which had to be stitched in the dressing room.

Wade took over and hit Emory and Henry teammate Larry Bales for 15 yards before Martin jumped into the act.

The South, led by Arkansas linebacker Bill Bergy and Miami's All-American Ted Hendricks, mounted a formidable defense that stymied all but the field goal and produced one pass interception and two fumble recoveries.

With less than five minutes remaining in the first half, Notre Dame quarterback Coley O'Brien teamed with Irish fullback Ron Dushney on a 40-yard touchdown play that was nullified by a 15-yard penalty for an illegal man downfield.

Scoring:
South 0 0 0 0—0

Cheyney drops to ninth in AP poll after suffering first loss of year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Trinity, Tex., grabbed the runner-up position behind leading Kentucky Wesleyan in The Associated Press' small college basketball poll Wednesday despite splitting two games last week.

However, the setback was to Oklahoma State, a major college, and the 1-1 record for the week enabled the Texans to replace idle Central State of Ohio in second place.

Kentucky Wesleyan accumulated 15 first-place votes and 368 points in the balloting by a national panel of 19 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

Fairmont, W. Va., like Kentucky Wesleyan unbeaten in seven games, climbed two spots to third place and grabbed off two first-place votes. Trinity had none, but accumulated enough votes for second and third to nose out Fairmont 232 points to 223. Central State had 222.

In last week's games, the Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan downed Akron 74-54 and San Diego State 86-63.

Ashland, Ohio, dropped a notch to fifth after splitting a pair with Grove City and beating Wilberforce.

Stephen F. Austin jumped three places to sixth while Youngstown State 4-0, advanced from eighth to seventh. Idle Long Beach State tumbled from sixth to eighth and Cheyney State, beaten by Mt. St. Mary's, fell from seventh to ninth.

West Virginia State climbed into the last position in the Top Ten, a gain of four places. Cannon, Pa., 10th a week ago, dropped to 12th.

Howard Payne, No. 19, and Lamar Tech, No. 20, are the new teams in the Second Ten. They replaced Kenyon and Earlham.

All-College tournament to feature top teams

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The 33rd annual All-College Basketball Tournament gets underway Thursday, featuring two of the nation's top 20 teams and two undefeated squads.

Wyoming and Duquesne, both 7-0, head the star-studded cast for the nation's oldest basketball tournament. St. Bonaventure, 5-1, is ranked No. 13 and Wyoming is 14th.

The tournament lineup, which also includes Louisiana State, 4-1, University of Pacific, 6-2, Tulane, 5-3, defending champion Oklahoma City, 4-3, and Texas A&M, 3-3, features college basketball's top scoring team and the nation's strongest defensive team.

Louisiana State, led by last season's top scorer, Pete Maravich, boasts a 97-point average and Duquesne has held opponents to a meager 53.7 points per game.

Most of the tournament interest is focused on teams such as St. Bonaventure, Duquesne and Wyoming, but the aggregate won-lost record of all of the teams, 41-13, shows there are no slouches in the tournament.

Some of the nation's highest-scoring players will add excitement to the four-day tournament.

Detroit humbles Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons, behind 24 points by Happy Hairston and 22 each by Eddie Miles and Dave Bing, wiped out a seven-point first quarter deficit Christmas night and defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 119-113.

The Bucks, a National Basketball Association expansion team, a chance to win three consecutive games for the first time this season and remained buried in the Eastern Division cellar.

The tournament lineup, which also includes Louisiana State, 4-1, University of Pacific, 6-2, Tulane, 5-3, defending champion Oklahoma City, 4-3, and Texas A&M, 3-3, features college basketball's top scoring team and

Pocono to hold snowmobile race

LONG POND — The first in a series of snowmobile races at the Pocono International Raceway will be held this Sunday. The races will continue through the winter and end on the weekend of March 15.

The program carries a purse of over $24,000 and will be part of the track's attempt to provide race fans with every type of competition.

Weather important in AFL tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Turner, the resident meteorologist at Shea Stadium, has temporarily suspended his course on the wind that plagues the New York Jets' field.

"I'm not going to tell you anything about it, not this week," Turner said Wednesday as the Jets continued to work toward Sunday's American Football League championship game with Oakland.

The Jets' placekicker has talked about the wind at Shea all season. But if Oakland's kicker, George Blanda, hasn't read any of Turner's expert thoughts, he's not going to get any free tips now. He'll have to find out for himself Sunday.

"All you have to do is kick; the wind will tell you the rest," said Turner, the AFL's scoring champion with 145 points.

"The wind here is the worst in the league," he continued. "It doesn't matter what kind of day it is. The wind is always there. There's nothing about the wind I don't know, but that doesn't help get the kick through."

The wind comes off Flushing Bay, which is west of Shea, enters the park at the open end and whips mercilessly around the field. It affects kickers, passers and pass receivers.

"That ball was getting caught four-five times during its flight," split end George Sauer said after a passing drill.

"Weather plays a part in all games," quarterback Joe Namath said, "but the wind factor is the biggest thing. Cold weather and rain are bothersome, but they don't bother you nearly as much as the wind. Against Cincinnati the wind really was bad. I had good flight on the ball, but if it gets up in the wind, it goes funny."

"This is a tricky stadium with the wind," Ewbank said. "It was really bad in that Cincinnati game. If you have to kick out of the end zone into a head wind, it could hurt. The wind could hurt any passer, too. I don't care who he is."

It is, of course, likely that Sunday's game will be decided by passing and/or kicking.

Cavaliers' Hartman voted all-league middle guard

EAST STROUDSBURG — Ron Hartman, a standout offensive and defensive lineman for the East Stroudsburg High Cavaliers football team, has been selected to the first defensive team of the Lehigh-Norhampton Football League.

The announcement was made Wednesday night by Cavalier Coach Dick Merring, who said that the selections are made through the votes of all the coaches in the league.

Hartman also made the honorable mention list for the offensive team at the guard position.

Jim Frailey, Cavalier fullback, made the honorable mention list on both the offensive and defensive teams.

John Nauman, Pocono Mountain tackle, received honorable mention on both offense and defense.

Hartman, a senior who stands five feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 185, was the captain of the defensive unit in the 1968 season.

Coach Merring said of Hartman, "He had an outstanding year. He was in on about 35 per cent of all the tackles made by the defensive unit. He led our team in tackles and he was awarded our 'Outstanding Lineman' several times this year."

Frailey is also a senior. Picking only 150 pounds on a five foot, eight inch frame, he averaged 25 carries a game for the Cavaliers. In his travels on the gridiron, the young workhorse averaged better than four yards per carry and, according to Merring, gained close to 1,000 yards this year.

Merring said, "Frailey made our offense go. The fullback belly play was the reason our offense worked so well."

Only two players on the all-league team were picked unanimously by the coaches, and both boys were in the same backfield at Hellertown, Jim Kugler, a quarterback, and Wayne Marish, a halfback, received that honor.

Dick Steiner, Nazareth, and Chip Mannick, Wilson, were named as ends on the first teams both offensively and defensively.

First Team Offense

Ends: Dick Steiner, Nazareth, and Chip Mannick, Wilson; Tackles: Melvin Dalrymple, Wilson and Carmon Cortez, Nazareth; Guards: Wallace Kocher, Pen Argyl, and Henry Kunkle, Parkland; Center: Dick Leigh, Hellertown, and Jim Fedon, Pen Argyl; Backs: Jim Kugler and Wayne Marish, both of Hellertown, and Fred Whitmore and Frank Gorman, both of Bangor.

First Team Defense

Ends: Dick Steiner, Nazareth, and Chip Mannick, Wilson; Tackles: Frank With and Joe Podany, both of Parkland; Middle Guard: Ron Hartman, East Stroudsburg, and Dave Mallock, Pen Argyl; Linebackers: Henry Kunkle, Parkland, and Steve Shiffert, Nazareth; Backs: Brian Gilbert, Bangor; Fritz DePue, Wilson; Donny Reiss, Parkland, and Barry Tobias, Pen Argyl.

Honorable Mention Offense

Ends: Keith Miller, Pen Argyl, and Alfonso Zito, Bangor; Tackles: John Nauman, Pocono Mountain; Carl Fontanella, Bangor, and Dave Hendershot, Bangor; Guards: Ron Hartman, East Stroudsburg, and Ralph Brewer, Bangor; Backs: Nick Romano and Bruce Onjack, both of Bangor, and Jim Frailey, East Stroudsburg.

Honorable Mention Defense

Ends: Nelson Hoskin and Al Zito, both of Bangor; Tackles: John Nauman, Pocono Mountain; Keith Miller, Pen Argyl, and Carl Fontanella, Bangor; Guards: Bruce Onjack, Bangor; Backs: Jim Frailey, East Stroudsburg, and Fred Whitmore, Bangor.

St. Louis shuts out Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI)—Second period goals by Rod Berenson and Bill McCreary supported Glenn Hall's third shutout of the season as St. Louis blanked Minnesota 2-0 in a Western Division National Hockey League game Christmas night.

The victory gave St. Louis 37 points, 12 more than second place Los Angeles, which was idle.

Minnesota dropped to fifth, one point behind Philadelphia which tied New York 2-2.

Berenson, the west's leading scorer with 37 points, fired his division-leading 18th goal when he took a pass from Tim Ecclestone, skated in untouched on Minnesota goalie Cesare Maniago and blasted the puck into the lower left hand corner of the net from 20 feet.

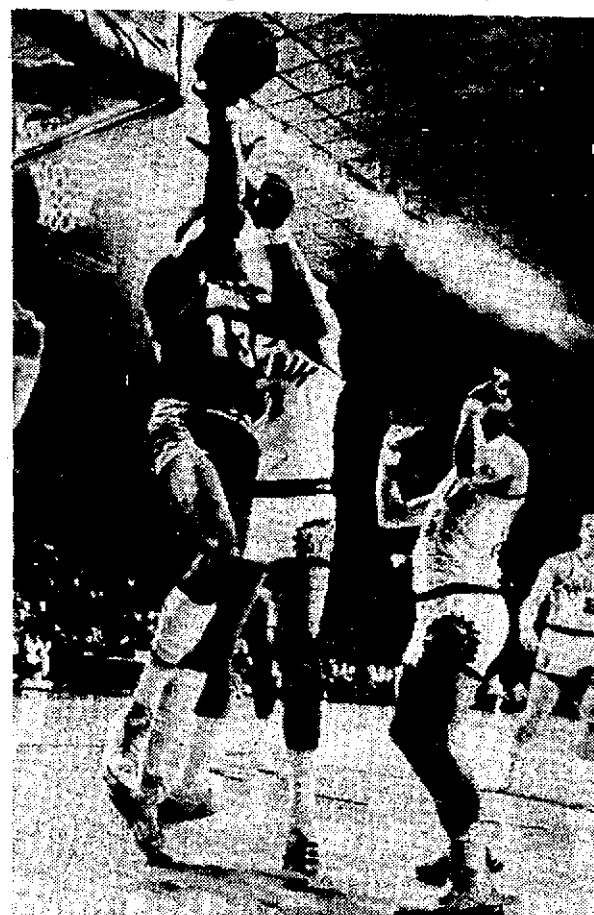

Cincinnati dumps Chicago

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Connie Dierking scored a season-high 31 points to lead the Cincinnati Royals to a 103-98 victory over the Chicago Bulls Wednesday night.

But it was a string of seven straight points by Oscar Robertson in the fourth period after the Bulls pulled to within two points which sealed the victory for the Royals and ended a three-game losing streak.

With Jerry Lucas on the sidelines with a sprained ankle, John Tresvant took over the rebounding chores for the Royals, grabbing a game-high 19. The Royals jumped to a 52-44 halftime lead and led 81-72 at the end of three periods.

West, Baylor lead Lakers in rally to down Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers outscored Phoenix 37-18 in the third quarter to overcome a 12 point halftime deficit and win 119-99 in a National Basketball Association game Christmas Day.

Jerry West scored 26 points for the Lakers and was joined by Elgin Baylor with 22, Keith Erickson with 19 and Wilt Chamberlain and Bob Hewitt with 15 each.

Phoenix took an early lead. They led 29-20 at the end of the first quarter and stretched it to a 24-point margin midway in the second quarter. In the last five minutes of the first half, Los Angeles outscored the Suns 18-6 and narrowed the margin to 56-41 at halftime.

Los Angeles came back with eight straight points at the opening of the second half to close the gap to four and went ahead for the first time in the game 67-66 with 5:39 left in the third quarter.

The Lakers led from that point on. Dick Van Arsdale led Phoenix with 27 points, followed by Gail Goodrich with 18.

It was the sixth straight win for the Lakers who lead the NBA's Western Division and the 27th loss for the cellar-dwelling Suns.

Penguins bombard Red Wings

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Penguins came from two goals behind Wednesday night to record a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Red Wings in a National Hockey League game.

Trailing 3-1 midway through the second period, the Penguins stormed back for three goals in the middle stanza and added two more in the third period as they snapped a five-game losing streak.

After Jean Pronovost had given Pittsburgh a 1-0 first period lead, Gordie Howe evened the score when he tallied the 704th goal of his career. Howe's goal came on a one handed shot from 15 feet out as a Penguin player was draped over him.

Dean Prentice and Gary Bergman scored within five minutes of each other early in the second period and then the Penguins took over.

Charlie Burns' breakaway goal narrowed the Detroit lead to one. Pronovost then set up Keith McCreary for a pair of goals, the second coming on a power play and giving Pittsburgh the lead for good.

Basketball classic opens today

EAST STROUDSBURG — The fifth annual Pocono Basketball Classic begins today at 1:30 p.m. in Koehler Fieldhouse on the campus of East Stroudsburg State College.

In the first game of an afternoon doubleheader, King's College (24) takes on Kutztown State College (3-2), while in the second game, Wilkes College (3-4) is paired against Lafayette (1-3).

Two games are also scheduled for tonight, with favored Muhlenberg (5-1) playing the University of Maine (1-5) in the first game and host East Stroudsburg (0-6) facing Middlebury (1-3) in the nightcap.

The festivities will get underway today at 11:30 with a luncheon at the Pen 'N Sword, which will be followed by a press conference.

The ESSC Warriors are defending champions. Muhlenberg is led by former Stroudsburg High School ace, Ned Rahn.

Santa Clara Broncos picked as Rainbow Classic favorite

HONOLULU (UPI)—The Santa Clara Broncos, sixth-ranked team in the nation, were solid favorites to win the fifth annual Rainbow Classic which was scheduled to open Thursday night with a doubleheader.

The Broncos, unbeaten in seven games this season, hold the nation's longest winning streak at 21. They are scheduled to meet West Virginia in the second game.

Columbia and Stanford are scheduled to open the classic.

Purdue, 19th-ranked in the country, and Columbia, unbeaten in six games, were expected to give Santa Clara a run for the crown.

Friday night, the first round will be concluded with the Bolleymakers meeting Arizona, and host Hawaii taking on the U.S. Navy Submarine Pacific Force.

The Broncos have a strong cast headed by 6-9 center Dennis Awtry, the team's leading rebounder, and Bud Ogden, the squad's leading scorer with a 20.2 average. Awtry is averaging 19 points per game.

The Bolleymakers will be led by high-scoring guard Rick Mount, who is hitting at a 32-points-per-game clip and averaging a hot 58 per cent from the floor.

Columbia will rely on the scoring of Heyward Dotson and Jim McMillan, both returnees from last year's Ivy League title team.

West Virginia, 4-2 for the season, will be led by Bob Hummel, who is averaging 17 points per game, while Stanford, sporting a poor 2-4 mark, will pin their hopes on victory on the shooting of Don Griffing.

Bill Warner, a 6-4 sophomore scoring at a 20.2 point clip, will lead Arizona, which is 4-4 for the season.

The Rainbows, with the tournament's poorest record at 1-5, will have to rely on forward Paul Hoffman, a transfer from Utah State.

The Subpac Navy five, composed of numerous college players, will be led by their high-scoring forward Howard Hassen, a former Stanford star.

The second round will be held Saturday with the winners of the Santa Clara-West Virginia and Hawaii-Subpac games meeting in the opener and the victors of the Columbia-Stanford and Purdue-Arizona contests meeting in the nightcap.

Consolation games were scheduled for Saturday and Monday afternoons.

Barry still ABA top scorer

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Variety marks the latest statistics released by the American Basketball Association Wednesday with no player leading in more than one department.

Rick Barry of Oakland continues as the league's leading scorer with 995 points in 28 games for a 35.5 average. Connie Hawkins of Minnesota is second in scoring with 816 points in 24 games for a 34.0 average.

Barry ranks second in free throw shooting behind Bob Lloyd of New York, who sank 95 of 107 charity tosses for an .888 percentage. Barry is 344 of 590 for an .882 mark.

Hawkins, the ABA's Most Valuable Player and leading scorer last season, is second in rebounding with 314 grabs compared to 409 hauled in by Mel Daniels of Indiana.

Larry Brown of Oakland, who led in assists last season while a member of New Orleans, is tops in that department again with 175. Don Freeman of Miami is second with 163.

Jim Eakins of Oakland leads in two point field goal percentage .756 and Louie Dampier of Kentucky .401 is tops in three point field goal percentage.

League won't bend over backwards to sign Lew Alcindor, says NBA head

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Basketball Association will not bend over backwards to sign Lew Alcindor. In fact, it's not even going to stretch a little.

That was made clear by NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy at the weekly Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association luncheon. The commissioner said the NBA does not plan to conduct its annual collegiate draft any differently than in the past despite the expected bonus war with the American Basketball Association over the 7-foot center from UCLA.

Rumors have persisted that Alcindor may demand that the NBA allow him to play for the New York Knickerbockers, his hometown team, or face the threat of losing him to the rival ABA.

Such action would be the first of its kind in the NBA. Under league rules the teams with the worst record in each division loss a coin for the right to pick first in the collegiate draft. Alcindor, of course, will be the No. 1 pick in the 1969 draft.

Kennedy, though, said he didn't envision Alcindor taking such action.

"I can't imagine him doing such a thing," Kennedy said. "But even if he does, we will not conduct our draft any differently than we have in the past. Alcindor is Alcindor this year just as there was Elvin Hayes last year. And there will be Alcindors in the future."

"We (the NBA) have never had a bidding war, and we will not get into a bidding war with the ABA. The NBA has always paid top dollar for its No. 1 draft choices, and we will continue to do so," he added.

The ABA, which has only a few top stars, presumably considers the towering Alcindor the necessary attraction to keep the league going, and it has been rumored that the league's 11 teams will pool their resources in an effort to get him.

"I've read that but I can't believe it's so," said Kennedy. "Of course, I can't be sure. But I can make an observation."

"Last year at the time we signed our No. 1 and No. 2 draft choices, Elvin Hayes and Westley Unseld, they made an unsolicited observation that the reason they signed was that they were sure they had enough talent to go far in pro basketball and they wanted to play with the best by signing with the NBA. Alcindor has the potential to be a great one, too, and I'm sure he'll feel the same way."

Browns' Nelsen determined

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bill Nelsen led Cleveland through a long, sustained Christmas Day workout for the National Football League championship game—and then pointed out that having been a loser for so long a time is what may have made him a winner in so short a time.

"Determination is part of me now," Nelsen explained. "Before this year, I went through a lot of seasons in high school, college and in the pros and most of them were losing. This helps—to feel how it is to lose—because it forces you to continue to struggle and to look upwards."

And it's that determination built in his years at Pittsburgh, coupled with the newborn confidence instilled in Cleveland, that will be Nelsen's greatest asset when he leads the Browns onto the field Sunday against the favored Baltimore Colts.

For Nelsen knows it will take determination to beat the Colts. "I don't know how you can be daring against a club like Baltimore," Nelsen said after the Browns had jammed their usual two Wednesday drills into one mammoth four-hour session. "You have to play them nose-to-nose and pound away at them."

Nelsen learned how to keep pounding away while he was pounded away at in his days with the Steelers, spending the better part of the last three seasons on the sidelines with leg injuries.

"It would have been easy to get discouraged," Nelsen agreed. "But you have to look at the brighter side of things; the little victories you have. I couldn't let myself get discouraged. I felt my bad games came when I was hurt; my good ones when I was sound."

That's why, at first, the trade that brought him to Cleveland made him unhappy.

"I was unhappy about leaving Pittsburgh," he said, "because I hadn't accomplished anything there. When I came here my first thoughts were to rationalize—the type of things to satisfy your mind at playing second string."

He played second string to Frank Ryan for three games, then started against and beat his former Pittsburgh teammates, lost to St. Louis and came up against Baltimore.

"The hook was out," Nelsen recalled. "It really didn't prey on my mind that it was going to happen again but I knew it was either do the job or go back and sit down again."

Colts' boss concerned over Kelly

BALTIMORE (AP)—Understanding the obvious, Coach Don Shula says the Baltimore Colts on Sunday "will be conscious all the time" of the whereabouts of Leroy Kelly.

Kelly is easy to spot on the football field, because he seems to be everywhere at once. The problem is to catch him.

What Shula means, is that although the Colts won't assign a particular defensive player to shadow Kelly, they'll be wary of his every move in the National Football League championship game in Cleveland.

"Kelly is a game-breaking threat any time he gets the ball, just like Gale Sayers of Chicago," Shula said. "He's one of the best runners in football."

Baltimore's only defeat in 15 games this season was a 30-20 loss to Cleveland on Oct. 20 when Kelly gained 130 yards rushing, caught two passes for 18 yards and scored two touchdowns.

Kelly, the NFL's leading ground gainer for the past two seasons, won't be the only problem facing Baltimore's Western Conference champions.

"Cleveland played Ernie Green against us last time even though he wasn't feeling up to par," Shula said. "We'll probably see him again."

Can-Am cup races start in June

RACINE, Wis. (UPI)—The Canadian-American Challenge Cup, richest road racing series in the world, will get off to an earlier start than ever this year, opening in Canada in June, it was announced Wednesday.

Stirling Moss, director of racing for the Johnson Wax Co., a main sponsor of the series for unlimited horsepower sports cars, said four races have been added to the 1969 card with the possibility of a fifth new event.

The schedule for the Can-Am was announced by the Sports Car Club of America after a meeting with Johnson officials.

Jack O'Brian's

Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Christmas business is off because of the Hong Kong flu: stores here are advertising to buy gifts by mail.

The New Yorker Hotel's now the biggest sports stopover in the history of N. Y. hotels: even has a fulltime executive just for sports, Arthur Susskind Jr. . . . Meyer Davis conducted the orchestra personally (he has dozens working nightly this time of year) when Mary Lasker tossed a fancy bash in her Beekman Pl. home for the Hubert Humphreys.

And Meyer's a Republican . . . If you hear bandleader after bandleader boast he'll play for the Nixon Inauguration ball, please believe it: there'll be more than 50 including maybe 25 local Washington groups.

Best known: Meyer Davis, Duke Ellington, Lionel Hampton (probably the most active GOP campaigner among all bands, and a Nixonophile), Les Brown, Guy Lombardo, Doc (Tonight Show) Severinson, an all-star traditional jazz group (Bobby Hackett, etc.), and Lester Lanin. (Oh, that Lester Lanin!).

Very irked lady on the television news hung a new label on N. Y. City as she shivered from the fuel strike that just may fit for years: "Strike City".

WOR's Ed Fitzgerald of radio's very first (and still best) Mr. and Mrs. talk-team is back in Memorial Hospital for more cancer surgery; Ed has the most moxie of any gent we've ever known; takes these tough trips like a country weekend and God bless him.

Orson Bean's playing Scrooge in a Christmas-production of "Christmas Carol" in makeup more like TV's new Tiny Tim.

We forecast more than a month ago herein that Bishop James A. Pike would wed Diane Kennedy, who spooked his last book and runs his business projects. They just announced it.

There's a new LP out by the same lads (Bob Booker and George Foster) who fashioned the funny "The First Family" album in those dear live days when there were more Kennedys to ridicule: it's called "Beware of Greeks," which now aims its somewhat heavy swats at Aristotle and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis . . . Some of it is funny, one or two shafts hilarious, most is formula-fabrication by gag writers with a functional grasp of the obvious; and while Jackie Kennedy is fair game for satire or even this brand of burlesque since she stepped down from the pedestal onto Ari's yacht, it must be faulted not for the bad taste of taking on such chic targets, merely because it's really not very, certainly not consistently funny; still, it should have a smart sale — if just among women who seem so unanimously to resent Jackie's stooping so high.

The funny-tyne neo-Marilyn Monroe voice of Jackie belongs to N. Y. actress Susan Anspach of the original "Hair" cast who manages a sly spoof of the cuntsy-weentsy voice so many know from Jackie's television twitters when she was First Lady; Ari is played in a rich round Greek accent by Joe Silver of television and the N. Y. stage (still co-starring in "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running").

Mike Paris, who used to explain the velvet rope at Goldie's New York, now does ditto at The Spindletop; Mike's a gentle looking lad but watch out — we've seen him in action: one four a.m. Mike was minding his sandwich after work at another restaurant (The Brasserie) and four out-of-town types started ridiculing Mike's somewhat mad manner of dress, with the usual bad mannered whistles, hoots and swish-accusations and they couldn't have been wronger . . . Mike, all guy, also is a Karate black-belt and when the hardly-gentlemen started pushing him about, Mike decked them all in four straight chops.

Someone sent for the cops and they tried to claim Mike had been a gang of thugs but our table had three columnists who reported the mini-Waterloo promptly to the constabulary . . . So don't be fooled by Mike's graceful manner on the Spindletop rope.

If you've wondered about the recent proliferation of UHF-TV stations after many years of inactivity in that speck of the spectrum, the decision last week by the FCC to okay pay-TV is it . . . Constitutional lawyers advised clients there was no way the anti-pay TV lobbies could discourage it much longer . . . Although they managed to keep it dead for 17 years since it first was proved feasible; two to five more years and it will be one of the great growth industries.

"Laugh-In" uses a lot of wu-fresh japes but they're more welcome than similar swats taken on the Smothers Brothers television grudge-fights. On "Laugh-In" the mood is free, a flavor of "Whee!" mood that makes an insult palatable, more the get-even ugliness of "Take that!" . . . The tiny tragedy—they don't know the difference.

Sophia Loren's made her January reservation for the baby at Geneva Hospital; her Swiss obstetrician, Dr. Hubert de Walleville, advised husband Carlo Ponti she's in fine shape (always was!) and he anticipates no problem.

Looking toward next Yule

INDIANA, Pa. (AP) — Now that the holiday is over, the "Christmas Tree Capital of the World"—a title Indiana County, Pa. claims—is looking forward to next year, and the next, and the one after that.

It marketed a $10 million crop this past season, shipping more than one million trees—"perfectly shaped," the growers boast—all over the United States. About 50 were flown to Vietnam for GIs in the battle zones.

And they now have under cultivation 25 million trees—varieties of pine, spruce and fir—that will be sitting in living rooms and offices in the years ahead.

"It takes about five to seven years to cultivate one tree," says Roy Fleming, Indiana R. D., vice president of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers Association. "Each year every tree is sheared and shaped so that it has perfect symmetry and is thick and full, with no holes or bad spots."

Promotion time starts for tree selling in May—when new growth appears — and that's when Indiana County holds its annual Christmas Tree Festival and crowns its Queen Evergreen.

There are some 200 growers in this small Western Pennsylvania county, roughly 50 miles northeast of Pittsburgh, and they produce their trees on some 22,000 acres.

"We grow and market more plantation-grown Christmas trees than any other comparable area in the world," says Fleming. "That's why we're No. 1 the capital."

Plantation-grown means the trees are cultivated, watched, fertilized. In other sections, woodsmen got into virgin forests and cut trees that grew in a wild, unplanned state.

Indiana got into the tree business—now one of its chief industries—at the start of the 20th Century. Pines and spruce and firs were planted on acres and acres of uninhabited soft coal lands where bituminous mining was widespread.

Primarily, these were reforestation projects, designed to keep the surface unscarred and protected while men and machines tore apart the earth hundreds of feet below.

"But soon we saw there was money in this tree crop," says Fleming. "Gradually, shipments to nearby markets increased, and then more and more land was seeded with white, Scotch, red and Austrian pines, with blue, Norway and white spruce, and with Douglas and balsam firs."

The Indiana County growers, determined to keep their product green and their income bulging with the same color, constantly experiment with the soil.

Firm seeks judgment

STROUDSBURG — Rock Hill Material Company, Quakertown, Monday filed suit in the Monroe County Court for $4,407 against Gary H. Smith, East Stroudsburg R.D. 3.

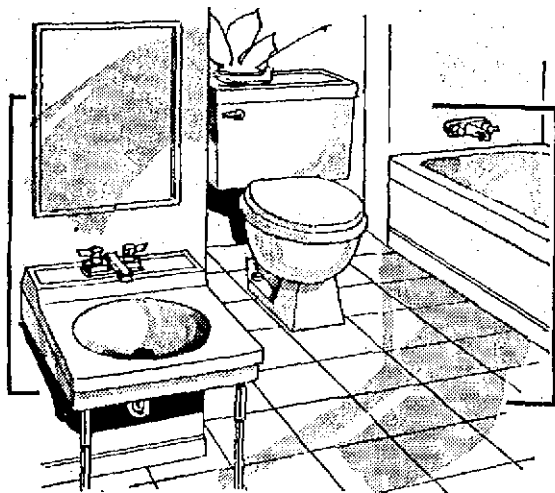

The suit arose from an accident involving the company's truck and an automobile driven by Smith on April 24, 1967.

Damage to the truck was $2,582, while $1,325 was the cost to the company for renting a truck to replace the damaged truck while it was being repaired.

Your tax problems

"Your Tax Problems" is published as a public service and is prepared by the Philadelphia District Office of the Internal Revenue Service. Send queries to the Internal Revenue Service, Public Information Officer, P.O. Box 12805, Philadelphia, Pa. 19108. For personal replies give name and address.

Q. When will I be getting my income tax forms?
 A. The tax forms will be available at local IRS offices as well as many post offices and banks soon after the first of the year. Most taxpayers will receive copies of the forms and instructions in the mail.

Q. If you receive a 1040 tax form in the mail, you may have a form that is printed in two colors. This is to draw attention to certain parts of the form that were troublesome to taxpayers last year.
 Color is not used on the 1040-A Forms or the 1040 Forms that may be picked up at IRS offices and other locations.

Q. How did you get involved with the administration of Federal gun laws?
 A. IRS has administered Federal gun laws since 1934 when the National Firearms Act was enacted. The basis of this law, which imposed taxes on the transfer and making of firearms, was the taxing authority given the Federal government by the Constitution. As IRS is responsible for collecting other Federal taxes, it was given the responsibility of administering the gun law.

Q. Business has been good the past few months and my income is considerably above what I declared on my estimate. Should I make a change on my next quarterly payment?
 A. Yes, you can file an amended estimated tax return when the next quarterly payment is due January 15, 1969. Make the change right on the notice you receive. You do not have to pay the fourth installment if you file your 1968 tax return by January 31, 1969, and pay the balance due at that time.

Q. I make several business trips a year for my company and get reimbursed for what I spend. How do I handle this for tax purposes?
 A. The general rule is that these reimbursements must be included in income. However, you do not have to report them on your tax return if you account for your expenses to your company. If your reimbursements exceed your expenses, then the excess must be reported as income on your return. If your allowable expenses exceed your reimbursements, report the reimbursements as income but also deduct the expenses.

Q. My wife is working part-time at a local department store this Christmas. If she files her own tax return will I still be able to claim her exemption on our return?
 A. No, you may not. When a husband or wife files a separate return the other must file separately too and neither is permitted to claim exemptions, expenses or deductions of the other.

Q. If your wife's income is small it would probably be to your advantage to file a joint return. Compute your tax both ways to see which is best for you.

Your Horoscope
 By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't let little annoyances upset your day's program. Try as best you can to iron out difficulties through intelligent discussion, then proceed toward goals with confidence.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Decide upon your course carefully, then attack objectives with vigor. Accommodate to necessary changes, of course, but emphasize stick-to-itiveness.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mercury, favorable, stimulates your affability and desire to cooperate. Managing present situations will be better than reaching for "better prospects" while unfinished tasks are still at hand.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Step sure-footedly, with foresight and deliberation now. Get an early and brisk start and you can cover more ground than even you had thought possible.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — View all things objectively; consider all possibilities before you embark on anything new or continue on any project which obviously requires overhauling. Don't fall yourself and you won't fail anyone else.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Planetary influences generous. Use your talents ably and well-planned operations should succeed as you hope. You may run into some snags, of course, but it is how you recognize them and deal with them that will count.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Key objectives should be the control of resources and proper use of all abilities. The lackadaisical and the unwary will gain nothing new. Step up your enthusiasm.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A well-positioned Mars now gives you greater incentive. This is a period in which to drive on toward worthwhile goals to the best of your ability. You can accomplish much.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You may finalize a long-awaited contract or put over a good business deal. Negotiate from strength, backed by firm resolve.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Only some business matters can be successfully transacted in a social atmosphere; others suffer by it. In this connection, remember what went wrong in the past and avoid repetition.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — A variety of advantages indicated. Don't interrupt negotiations on matters which could suffer through delay. Whatever you do, you are usually thorough — a good thing now.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You may face a few disconcerting situations but the advantages of this day will more than offset them. So stay in there, pitching — and you will win!

YOU BORN TODAY are a born achiever! Your ideas are not only bright; they are often extraordinary. Once the Capricornian recognizes his potential and learns to put aside fears and doubts, he can rise to the pinnacle in almost any field he chooses. You make first-rate editors, doctors, poets, painters and business executives. You can lead or be a fervent follower if you believe in the route. Birthdate of: Adm. George Dewey, hero of Battle of Manila (Spanish-American War); Thomas Gray, poet.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 8 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 8, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message. The letters under the checked figures give you. 12-26
